Marines Make Huge Amphibious Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of U.S. Marines have invaded a Viet Cong stronghold south of Quang Ngai in an action described as the biggest amphibious assault since Inchon in the Korean War.

A U.S. military spokesman said several thousand Marines waded ashore from amphibious craft of the U.S. 7th Fleet Friday in another major effort to trap Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese Army regulars.

Announcement of the landing, 325 miles northeast of Saigon, was delayed by authorities for security reasons. In other areas, American troops Saturday tallied more than 200 Viet Cong dead in coastal search-and-destroy operations that brought some of the sharpest fighting of the new year.

One of the actions involved the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in the Bong Son sector, roughly 25 miles south of where the Marines landed Friday. Helicopters and planes poured in explosives and reinforcements to help the cavalymen decide a two-day battle. The U.S. troops suffered considerable casualties, a military spokesman said, but counted 159 Viet Cong killed and 50 captured.

Although the Marine landing and the Air Cavalry sweep are in the same general area they apparently are separate operations.

The Marines met no resistance when they hit the beach Friday morning, 25 miles south of Quang Ngai. The tempo increased Saturday when the Marines killed at least one guerrilla, captured another and detained five suspects.

One Marine battalion suffered light casualties in a fight with a rear guard Viet Cong platoon of about 25 men.

South Vietnamese infantry backed by artillery and Navy craft captured 17 tons of ammunition, machine guns, small arms and medical supplies in a sweep Saturday 120 miles southwest of Saigon. A spokesman said one Viet Cong was killed. Marine patrols scouring the countryside around the Da Nang Air Base Saturday killed seven guerrillas and captured five. In the Tuy Hoa area to the south, the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division worked with South Korean marines and Vietnamese troops through the third day of a drive that has accounted for 47 known Viet Cong dead.

Sporadic Fire
Eight of these were killed by the paratroopers in an overnight action that dwindled to sporadic rifle shots after heavy contact Friday morning. Suggesting that the eight were only part of the guerrillas' losses, an Army officer said.

"They (the Viet Cong) apparently retain the ability to drag their dead away."

Two cavalry helicopters crashed and four crewmen in one were killed. The fatal crash resulted from a mechanical failure 10 miles east of An Khe, the divisional headquarters in the highlands 240 miles northeast of Saigon. The other helicopter was shot down in the Bong Son action. Its crewmen, uninjured, joined in the ground fight.

Two companies of Viet Cong dressed in the uniforms of government rangers and marines staged an attack Friday night on militiamen at Tan Tuc, an outpost 11 miles southwest of Saigon. Genuine rangers and marines and an armed helicopter drove them out. A Saigon spokesman said 10 Viet Cong were killed and government casualties were light.

The moratorium in the U.S. bombing of Communist North Viet Nam extended into its 37th day with no indication of any softening in the stand of Ho Chi Minh's regime against negotiations.

The North Vietnamese "are prepared to fight another 10, 15, 20 years or longer," declared the official Communist party paper Nhan Dan in an editorial broadcast by Radio Hanoi.

In Vatican City, Pope Paul VI suggested arbitration through neutrals within the United Nations. The Roman Catholic pontiff endorsed President Johnson's peace offensive and expressed regret that "so far it has not had a positive reception."

Claims Tappers Killed Half Of Indian Tribe

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Roman Catholic missionary said Saturday white rubber tappers wiped out half a tribe of Indians in Amazon territory last year by putting arsenic in sugar they gave them.

No exact estimates of the number reported killed were lacking, but there were believed to be several hundred dead.

"Now they want to do away with the rest of the tribe," said the Rev. Valdemar Weber. He said the itinerant tappers wanted Indian land in the northern part of Mato Grosso state between the Xingu and Tapajos rivers.

The Jesuit priest raised charges of white massacres of Indians while in Rio de Janeiro this week to raise funds for his missions. The charges brought a response from agriculture Minister Ney Braga, whose department runs Brazil's highly respected Indian protection service.

After Maj. Luiz Vinhas Neves, chief of the protection service, told Braga that the priest's claims probably were true, Braga ordered the formation of a commission to see what could be done to help the Indians.

Neves said his service is undermanned and unable to provide Indians continuous protection because of the vastness of Indian territory.

Father Weber identified the tribe he said was half wiped out as the Tapanumans. He said 35 other tribes are threatened in the wild country being opened up in Brazil's frontier.

Brazil has about 110,000 Indians still living by their own ancient standards.

Pope Paul Asks U.N. Arbitration

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Endorsing President Johnson's peace campaign, Pope Paul VI suggested Saturday arbitration through neutral nations in the United Nations to end the war in Viet Nam.

He said the U.S. President's peace efforts since Christmas should be "written in history" and expressed belief the U.S. overtures to North Viet Nam were aimed at reasonable and honorable negotiations.

"It is regrettable that so far it has not had a positive reception," the Pope told an audience for the Italian Catholic Press Association. "It is a grave, a very grave responsibility to refuse negotiations, by now the only way for putting an end to the conflict without leaving the decision up to arms, to ever more terrible arms."

Speaking of arbitration, he declared: "Who knows whether finally an arbitration by the United Nations, entrusted to neutral nations, might tomorrow — we could hope for such a thing even today — be able to resolve the terrible question."

"We pray for this."

At U.N. headquarters in New York, a spokesman said Secretary-General U Thant had not been in touch with the Pope on the proposal.

The spokesman added: "The secretary-general has very high respect for Pope Paul. He appreciates the motivation behind the appeal. He wants to study the full text of the appeal before making any comment."

In Washington, a White House spokesman said the Pope's suggestion would be given prompt study. Joseph Latin, assistant press secretary, said President Johnson "is very grateful for the Pope's interest in peace in Viet Nam and in any suggestions he has for achieving it."

The Pope said his interest in the Viet Nam peace efforts does not stem from a Vatican desire to get involved in international politics or to gain publicity.

"Rather it seems our duty because of the gravity of the situation and because of the requirements of our ministers, today made so sensitive by circumstances and stimulated by the recent Vatican Ecumenical Council."

Drug Sponsors Found Innocent By Federal Jury

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal court jury that spent nine months hearing evidence of fraud and conspiracy in the promotion of the drug Krebiozen found Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, an internationally known physiologist, and two others innocent Saturday but continued its deliberations of evidence against Dr. Stevan Durovic, the drug's discoverer.

The jury of seven women and five men returned its verdict for the three after 40 hours of actual deliberations that began at 4:46 p.m. Tuesday.

Ivy, 72, jubilant over the verdict, hailed it as "a great victory for freedom of medical research."

"I will continue my research on cancer," he added. "I shall continue my research on the anti-cancer substance that exists in the human cells and blood system."

Ivy has contended that Krebiozen is that type of substance.

The jurors also returned an innocent verdict for Dr. F. P. Phillips, 53, a Chicago physician, and Marko Durovic, an attorney and brother of Dr. Durovic.

9 Dead

Firemen Probe Ruins For Victims

BOSTON (AP) — Firemen, working construction cranes, Saturday searched the ruins of an explosion and fire-ravaged Paramount Hotel in downtown Boston, seeking persons who might have been trapped in Friday night's tragedy.

At least nine persons were known dead and about 60 others were injured in the fire which swept the 10-story hotel, a bar and an adjoining coffee shop.

The identified dead were: Barbara Rawling, 37, Boston; Patricia Osborne, 27, Boston; Michael Cohen, 56, suburban Milton.

Albert White, Philadelphia, Pa.

Herbert C. McBride, 40, a resident of the hotel.

Three of the injured were reported in serious condition at hospitals. Another six remained under treatment at hospitals.

Several others were feared trapped in the ice-coated rubble and firemen worked to remove some eight feet of water from the hotel cellar on the chance other victims might be found.

Manager John DiCicco of the 90-room Paramount, said 65 persons were registered, including 40 who were permanent residents. He was unable to say how many were in their quarters.

The devastating explosion also rocked the adjacent Plymouth Hotel, but the flames did not reach it. Scene of the explosion and fire is only a block from Boston Common in an area known as the "Combat Zone." Nearby are many bars, small restaurants, and two theaters showing "adults only" movies.

The blast opened a 60-foot-long crater in normally busy Boylston Street and shattered windows in buildings as far as three blocks away.

Identification of the dead was delayed many hours due to the extensive injuries they suffered. Officials used dental charts, scraps of personal papers, and clothing in efforts to identify them.

Patrons in the bar and coffee shop were hurled upward by the strong explosion and then dropped back into the instantly burning cellars.

Six of the dead were found in the bar cellar while the other three were removed from upper-floor rooms of the Paramount.

Cause of the explosion was still to be determined. Witnesses said they saw flames shooting from manholes in the area carrying gas lines.

Spain's Ban On Bomb Loads Inconvenient

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spain's ban against U.S. planes carrying nuclear weapons while flying over that country can be an inconvenience but is expected to leave American strategic bomber-missile deterrent power unaffected.

The tight official U.S. silence on developments which have mushroomed up from the collision of an American B52 and a KC135 tanker plane with resulting failure to find one of the nuclear weapons aboard continued despite Saturday's formal announcement in Madrid.

Johnson Considers Pope's Suggestion

WASHINGTON — President Johnson gave intensive and serious consideration Saturday to the latest suggestion from Pope Paul VI for a possible new approach to pursue the matter.

It appeared that, in the light of Pope Paul's action, Johnson might decide to respond directly to the papal suggestion, through a personal statement or some other means.

Much Thought
These apparently are the reasons why the administration is giving much thought to the papal proposal.

In December, after the Viet Cong proposed a Christmas truce, the United States was somewhat reluctant to take up the offer because it appeared to be a political and propaganda move. However, when the Pope followed through with a similar proposal, policymakers here felt he had raised the question to a higher moral level and were encouraged to announce their own cease-fire plans without feeling they had given a propaganda advantage to the Communists.

In the past, Hanoi has resisted various suggestions to give the United Nations a larger peace-seeking role in Viet Nam, apparently on grounds similar to those felt by U.S. officials last month — that such suggestions were politically motivated. Thus there seems to be some hope now within the administration that the Pope, by urging new peace efforts through the United Nations, has raised that idea to a higher moral level that might, at some point in the future, meet with a favorable response from the Communists.

It was said that the Pope's proposal would not affect Johnson's decision on renewal of bombing of North Viet Nam — that whether to bomb now is a tactical question to be decided largely on military grounds whereas the papal initiative deals with longer-range matters and could be pursued regardless of Johnson's decision on air strikes.

Two Coast Guard tugs left Baltimore to clear ice from the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, which links Chesapeake Bay with the Delaware River.

Gale warnings went up along the East Coast from Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Cape May, N.J., and from Rock Island, R.I., to Eastport, Maine.

Warnings of heavy snow and hazardous driving were issued from the northern sections of Alabama and Mississippi northward to New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Weather Bureau saw no signs of relief. It predicted the intense cold will hold firm in the subzero North, while much colder weather will spread into the Southeastern states and Florida Saturday night and Sunday.

Mott's Body Arrives In U.S.

BOSTON (AP) — The body of Newcomb Mott arrived from Soviet Russia Saturday, en route to his Sheffield, Mass., home for burial, with the circumstances of his death aboard a Soviet prison train still an international mystery.

The Russians said Mott, 27-year-old book salesman, cut his throat Jan. 20 on the train bearing him to an 18-month sentence for illegal entry into the Soviet Union.

The young man's body was taken immediately to a morgue in Boston where Dr. Michael A. Luongo of Harvard Medical School and others performed an autopsy. The results were not made public.

"It made a better cook out of me," said John Deneed, a Chicago homicide detective who works nights. His wife, Bernice, is a member of the jury.

Krebiozen is a drug taken by some cancer sufferers but the government contended it is worthless. It charged that Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, former vice president of the University of Illinois, and three other defendants conspired to defraud in selling Krebiozen.

John Kelly and Porter Davis, alternate jurors who were dismissed Tuesday when the case went to the jury, missed their summer vacations last year.

The April-to-January trial also prevented Kelly, a plastics parts designer for Imperial Eastman Corp., from moving to Wisconsin. He and his wife planned to sell their home in suburban Rolling Meadows and Johnson cited this resolution Friday in dismissing the appeal of 16 senators who wrote him asking for further consultation before any decision is made to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam. Morse and Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, signers of the letter, were the only members of Congress who opposed passage of the 1964 resolution.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who opposes resumption of the air strikes, has contended this resolution did not authorize action "that might well lead to a world war."

But Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, told his colleagues that the 1964 resolution was "a declaration of war."

Broad Powers
That resolution was approved by Congress in 1964 with only two dissenting votes and gives the President authority "to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the armed forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The second Morse resolution would direct the Foreign Relations Committee "to conduct a full and complete investigation of all aspects of U.S. policies in Viet Nam and in connection therewith shall hold such public hearings as it shall deem advisable."

In a vigorous attack on U.S. involvement, Morse called the conflict "an undeclared and illegal war" and urged anew that the problem be turned over to the United Nations. He directed particularly heavy fire at the 1964 resolution.

Once again arguments over parliamentary procedure and debate over Viet Nam eased the speaking demands on the long-talking, bipartisan group fighting the administration-backed legislation.

Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and James O. Eastland, D-Miss., had to fill in only about half of the time in the southern part of the state.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a Foreign Relations Committee member who was one of 16 who wrote the President, said the group acted under the Senate's constitutional authority for advice and consent on foreign policy matters.

"I think the President may like the consent better than the advice," Church said.

Johnson gave no indication of what decision he will make on bombing in his terse reply to the 16. But the President said it is "increasingly clear that we have had only a hostile response to the pause in bombing North Viet Nam."

Kelly was fortunate financially. His company paid him his regular salary throughout the trial. But he didn't make any money on the deal. He said he had to turn over his juror checks to the firm. They totaled $1,682 over the nine-month period.

Good Experience
Of the trial, he said: "It was a good experience. It was an education in some ways and then again it was boring."

Davis, a retired factory worker, said the trial was "just one of those things. I was caught up in it and I made the best of it."

Neither man was anxious for more jury duty.

"I wouldn't like to (serve on a jury again) but if I was called I'd do it," said Davis.

"No sir," Kelly said. "I think I deserve a lifetime exemption, (from jury duty) both federal and state." Kelly said that, in fact, Judge Julius J. Hoffman — the presiding judge — told the Krebiozen jurors and alternates they would never have to serve on a federal court jury again.

The trial required many adjustments for the family of jury Frank Klyczek. "Our

"It gave approval for acts of war and we are at war right now," he said. "That's what our boys are doing over there."

Morse replied that Johnson hasn't asked for a declaration of war because "that would put it squarely up to the people whether they want to go to war and I am satisfied the answer would be 'no.'"

House Support
A request for congressional debate on Viet Nam policy and

But first, Laird added in a statement, Congress and the nation need a full report from Johnson, giving the nation's current objectives in Viet Nam and the various courses open to it.

Without mentioning Morse, Long said "this is not the time to make speeches that the Communists can circulate behind the Iron Curtain — it encourages them to keep up their terrorism."

Although the Foreign Relations Committee may decide that Morse's resolution warrants hearings, there is doubt that it could muster much support in the Senate.

No Advice
Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview that Republicans are not going to try to tell the President how to run the war in Viet Nam.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a Foreign Relations Committee member who was one of 16 who wrote the President, said the group acted under the Senate's constitutional authority for advice and consent on foreign policy matters.

Morse Questions Presidential Right To Expand War In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was asked Saturday to withdraw its broad authorization for President Johnson's conduct of the war in Viet Nam and institute a thorough investigation of the U.S. role in that conflict.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a persistent critic of Johnson's Southeast Asia policies, presented two resolutions as Senate debate over Viet Nam mounted. Both were referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

One resolution would "hereby terminate the provisions of the resolution commonly referred to as the Southeast Asia Resolution."

That resolution was approved by Congress in 1964 with only two dissenting votes and gives the President authority "to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the armed forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The second Morse resolution would direct the Foreign Relations Committee "to conduct a full and complete investigation of all aspects of U.S. policies in Viet Nam and in connection therewith shall hold such public hearings as it shall deem advisable."

Cass Soil Group Names Directors At '66 Meeting

VIRGINIA — One hundred thirty-five persons attended the 19th annual meeting of the Cass County Soil and Water Conservation district.

Rev. Slinkard of Virginia gave the invocation after which a delicious roast beef supper was served by the Virginia American Legion Auxiliary.

C. C. Taylor, vice-chairman, presided. The various reports were given by Dale Hager, secretary; Herb Witte, treasurer; Russell Meridith, farm adviser and John Pierce, Work Unit Conservationist. Taylor gave the district report.

George Petefish, sales representative of the Harrison Oil Co., presented the Goodyear Conservation Award to Mr. and Mrs. John Reiser, Jr., of Ashland. This award is given annually to a farmer in each county who makes an outstanding contribution to Soil and Water Conservation.

Taylor then turned the meeting over to Clifford Burrus who conducted the election of officers. Gilbert Lebkuecher, chairman of the nominating committee presented the names of Wm. Richter, Beardstown; Herbert Snow, Virginia and C.C. Taylor of Virginia to be elected for a two-year term. They were elected unanimously.

Outgoing directors were Dale Hager, Beardstown, and Clifford Burrus, Beardstown. The other directors are W. S. Campbell, Ashland, and Herbert Witte, Arenzville.

Taylor then introduced Elmer Smith of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. who talked on the importance of good water management. Smith stressed the large amounts of water being used by farmers, industries, and towns. He commented that in order for man to meet the future water needs, he must do all in his power to reduce runoff and keep our rain water where it falls.

Scouts To Run Beardstown For One Day

BEARDSTOWN — Boy Scouts will take over Beardstown Thursday, Feb. 10. James C. Crum, co-chairman of the Citizenship day program in the Honest Abe district, has announced that a Scout will be the guest of every cooperating city official at a luncheon at noon at the Yates restaurant. Following the meal the Scout and sponsor will go to the various offices to spend the afternoon, taking over the executive duties, with the sponsor as coach. Scouts will act as mayor, chief of police, city clerk, postmaster and in other capacities. Beardstown Notes. Potpourri: Helen Brockhouse, former Arrow cafe waitress, was injured Wednesday in a fall off a stool at the Arrow dining room. The accident happened near the close of her tour and she suffered a head injury which kept her from work the next day. Trinity Steel here doesn't allow more than one employee in any single family—as a result a couple of good stenographers recently became unemployed. Clarence Elliott, city carrier at the local post office has been promoted to regular. Bill Blake says he will be partners with Clarence Pate in raising watermelons this summer and operating a melon stand. Local officials were amazed Thursday at the speed in which Coroner Stuart Bromback made a trip from his home in Ashland to the Beardstown scene of a fatal accident. He was on the scene in less than an hour after getting a call from his deputy Carl Wessel. Two accidents in the past few popular Arrow cafe waitress, days at the site of the Oscar Mayer construction could have been much more serious. A boom on a machine swung into and broke a 12,000 volt power line and put the radio station, Bohn Aluminum and other places out of operation for a while, but there could have been fatalities. A few days later a propane gas heater being used during cement pouring work caused a fire due to a broken line. It was quickly extinguished and damage was held to a minimum. John Brockschmidt has quit his position at Schmitt Memorial hospital and accepted a job at Walker's IGA. Terry Clark, popular State Bank teller, is now in boot training in California. He enlisted in the Navy.

CIVIL DEFENSE TO BE TOPIC FOR NEW BERLIN CLUB

NEW BERLIN — The National defense and veterans division of the New Berlin Woman's Club will be in charge of the program for the February meeting to be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday, February 4, in the Sangamon County Fair building.

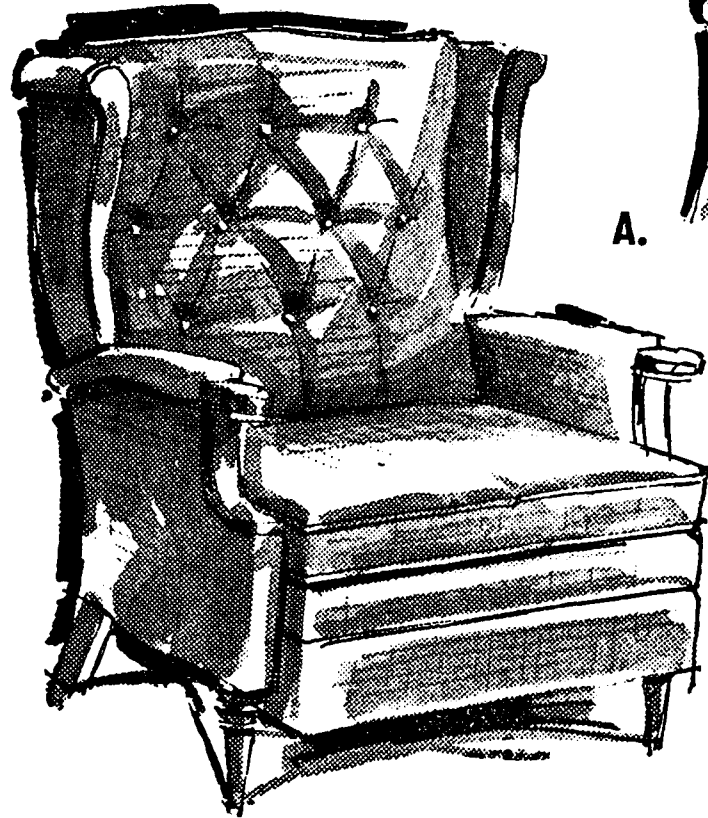

Lee Cernich of the Civil Defense Office in Springfield will be guest speaker, covering an over-all picture on Civil Defense.

February is the club's annual gift month for veterans of the Jacksonville State Hospital and all members are reminded to bring their gift to the meeting. Acceptable gifts include: stretch socks, playing cards, stationary, ballpoint pens, and pencils, cigarettes, handkerchiefs, pocket combs and hair brushes, toothbrushes and cases, pipes, talc powder, shoelaces, billfolds and coin purses, various games and puzzles, and magazines no older than three months. Those who wish may contribute cash to assist in purchasing coupon books. Each coupon book is one dollar and is given to the hospitalized veteran for use in the hospital commissary to purchase desired items.

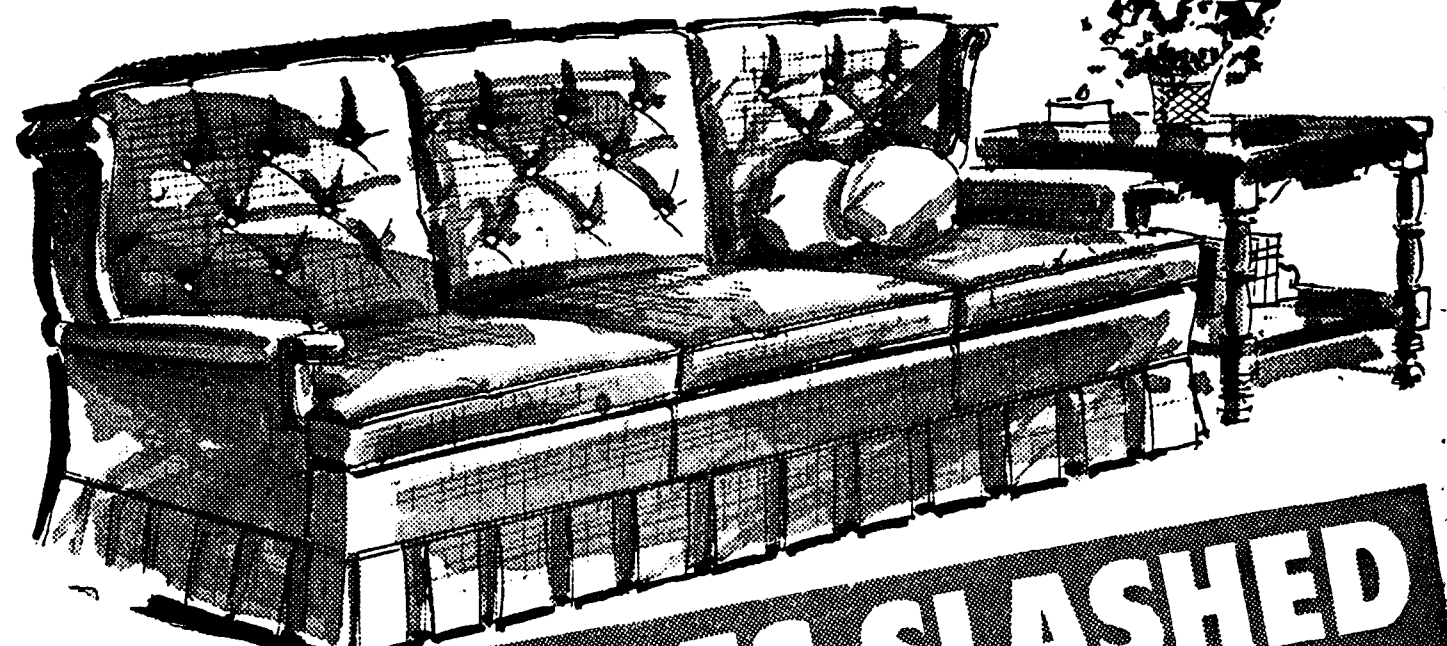

The committee in charge will also serve as hostesses for the afternoon. Committee members are: Miss Irene Lewis, chairman; Mrs. Paul Morrison, hostess chairman; Mrs. Horace Clark, Mrs. Eldon Davis, Mrs. Robert Keyes, Mrs. Virgil Long, Mrs. Hugh Norfleet, Mrs. Russell Saul, Miss Catherine Stapleton, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. W. C. Zachary and Mrs. Elmer Walter.

SOROPTIMIST MEMBERS STUDY FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The monthly business meeting of Soroptimist Club was held Monday evening Jan. 24, at the home of Mrs. Marguerite Hug, 645 E. State St. with Mrs. Frances Seef assisting.

Mrs. Ruth Howard, president, presided. The Regional meeting will be April 15-17 in Little Rock, Arkansas.

The club expects to hold regular study sessions in three foreign languages during 1966. The first lesson in German, being presented by the two hostesses proved most interesting.

An honorary member, Mrs. Eleanor Miller, who lectures at the Human Relations Center of the New School for Social Research in New York City was a welcome guest as she is making a short stay in the city. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Mrs. Eva Daniel, assisted by Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, entertained Xi Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi for its social meeting held recently at her home 197 S. Prairie St.

A get well card circulated for a personal note from each member to Mrs. Ruth Ranson who is in Passavant Hospital. The president, Alvahlee McCarthy, read an invitation to a Beta Sigma Phi Bowling Tournament to be held in St. Louis in April.

From the study book, Margaret Fitzpatrick took a lesson, "We Exchange Time for Experience." Bingo completed the social hour with each member receiving a prize.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be a dinner at Hamilton's.

Lioness Club Makes Donation To AFS Project

Members of the Lioness club met Jan. 27th at Hamiltons with the president, Mrs. O. A. Schuette, in charge. Mrs. John Murray led the pledge to the flag. There were 11 members present.

Patricia Bradshaw, president of the American Field Services club at JHS and Brian Kelly, AFS student from South Africa, attending the local high school, were guests. They conducted a question and answer session in reference to the AFS and also received the club's contribution to the project.

The club also contributed to the local March of Dimes campaign.

Mrs. John May was the speaker. She was presented by Mrs. Elmer Middendorf. Mrs. May told the history of music boxes and exhibited part of her personal collection.

Birthdays were recognized with Mrs. Earl Walters saluted with a music box rendition of Happy Birthday.

The club will serve as hostesses for the Lions club at its Feb. 9th meeting in the Chemistry building, MacMurray College campus, when the plan model for the city of Jacksonville will be made public. The project was financed by the Lions club and prepared by the architectural class at U. of I.

A rummage sale was held by the club Jan. 29th. The board will meet Feb. 14th at the home of the president and the club will meet next at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 24th in Baxter Hall, Illinois College campus. Mrs. Dean Strubbe will be program chairman and the Dobbins Bakery of Jacksonville will have the program.

The table centerpiece of mums and ivy was presented to Mrs. Jack Frisch.

Sherry J. Holt, Carl Elmore, Exchange Vows

A local couple, Mrs. Sherry Jean Holt and Carl R. Elmore were married Jan. 23rd by Rev. William J. Boston at his home, 903 North Church street. Members of the immediate families and close friends attended.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Goody of Jacksonville and the late Claude Sumpter and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Elmore of Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Brockhouse, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, attended the couple. A reception was held at 722 East Douglas avenue following the ceremony.

The bride wore a turquoise dress with a corsage of white carnations and Mrs. Brockhouse was in red with white carnations.

Extraordinary New Tomato
GREAT FLAVOR, EASY TO GROW

Less Foliage...More Tomatoes!

Our customers have written us hundreds of enthusiastic letters about HY-X. HY-X plants don't get big or gawky, but grow so compact and sturdy you needn't bother to stake them. Very prolific, too; HY-X starts early, bears abundantly 'til frost. The fruit is deep scarlet, globe-shaped, full of firm yet tender "meat," not just a lot of water and seeds. HY-X won't sun scald or crack. And it grows well 'most anywhere, even in semi-arid regions too dry for ordinary tomatoes. We want you to be a HY-X fan too, so right now we're making a most generous offer . . . more than 100 seeds for only 10¢! That barely covers our postage and handling costs, so don't pass this up—get yours now!

Miss Winkelman Leads Topic For Arenzville LCW

ARENZVILLE — The Lutheran Church Women of St. Peter's Lutheran Church met Jan. 26 at the parish hall, Miss Ada Winkelman led the topic, "Women of the Kingdom," assisted by Mrs. Marie Peck, Mrs. Russell Nordsiek, Mrs. Waldron Paul, Mrs. Charles Hendrick, and Mrs. George Biscoff, who represented women from countries around the world in a conversational skit. Mrs. Don Meyer opened at the business session with prayer. March 14 and 28 were the dates approved for observance of the Week of Prayer, with a special program presented by the members of the LCW. The date of the next quarterly meeting was changed from April 27 to March 21 in order to fit in with the itinerary of Pastor Swenson, a missionary, who will be the guest speaker. The first Monday of each month was designated for visiting shut-ins, and a schedule of visitors was circulated for signatures. It was announced that the executive committee will meet the second Thursday of the month preceding quarterly LCW meetings. Helene Sue Hendrick, Christian action chairman, asked for donations of sheets for making cancer pads. A thank-you letter from Mrs. Rosa Meyer, who is spending some time in Tucson, Ariz., with family members, expressed appreciation for a plant given to her by the group at Christmas. Appointed to take charge of planning a lunch to be served at a farm sale in February were Miss Helene Sue Hendrick, Mrs. Minet Long and Mrs. Herman Lovekamp of the Christian action committee, assisted by Mrs. Edward Hackman, Mrs. Harry Dufelmeier, and Mrs. Bill Kinsey. Refreshments were served to the 16 members present by Mrs. Marie Peck and Mrs. Melvin Dufelmeier.

Arenzville Notes
Mr. and Mrs. Adam Beets and Brenda spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zirkle, Bobby and Barbara of Bloomington and with Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes, Curt and Scott of Fairbury.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kolberer were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Niestrad and family of Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dimmitt of Pittsfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Feld, Judy and Jill of Colchester, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kolberer, Peggy and Sue of Chapin. Wendell Wessler, Cass County Commander of the American Legion, attended a third division meeting in Macomb on Sunday afternoon. He also visited with Roscoe Linder, former teacher in the Arenzville school, and with Howard Settles, former army buddy, at Western Illinois University. Rev. and Mrs. G. A. C. Biscoff attended the 48th annual Scouters' banquet held at the Elks Club in Springfield on Thursday evening. Pastor Biscoff pronounced the benediction at the close of the meeting. He is Scoutmaster of Arenzville Troop 118. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mayberry and Mrs. Ethel Charlesworth of Jacksonville spent Sunday afternoon as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Witte.

Graveside rites for Walter Becker of Cleveland, Ohio, were held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, with Rev. W. J. Kenney officiating. Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. William Knife of Cleveland, Mrs. M. L. Hierman of Winchester, Glen Ring of Kewanee, and Floyd Becker.

PRENTICE MAN WINS TWO-WEEK TRIP TO TRINIDAD

ASHLAND — Rual Way of Prentice has won a two week's trip to Trinidad for being the outstanding salesman in five states for W. R. Grace & Co. The announcement was made at a banquet held in the St. Louis Chase Park Plaza Hotel Jan. 24th.

Mr. Way was first chosen as being the number one salesman in his district and won a four-day trip to St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 22, 23, 24 and 25 for himself and his wife. They spent a weekend there sightseeing, touring Anheuser Busch brewery, eating at Stan Musial's Restaurant, seeing an old fashioned melodrama on a Mississippi showboat. They were also entertained as guests at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Way will leave on their two week's trip, all expenses paid, to Trinidad Feb. 4th. They will travel by jet to New York, then on to Trinidad; they will tour Trinidad and its sister islands, visit the big W. R. Grace plant there and relax in the sun. On their return trip they will spend three days visiting the W. R. Grace offices in New York and attend several theatres.

TO DISCUSS HIGHWAY MONDAY IN NEW BERLIN
NEW BERLIN—A public meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 31, at the Sangamon County fairgrounds, New Berlin, to acquaint interested people with the proposed interstate highway tentatively planned to go from Decatur to Hannibal, Missouri. Residents of the Village of New Berlin and of the rural area are urged to attend. All other interested persons will be welcomed.

Some Children Better Off In Institutions

By GENE SCHROEDER
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A Michigan State University psychologist says some children may be better off if they are raised in an institution rather than in their own homes.

The observation was made by Dr. Albert Rabin, MSU professor of psychology, who compared at first hand the personalities of children brought up in Israeli Kibbutz cooperatives with children reared at home.

In Kibbutz communities, Rabin said, children are raised in a family-like environment. In a Kibbutz, children are raised in a family-like environment. In a Kibbutz, children are raised in a family-like environment.

Parents visit the child frequently, and as he grows up the child visits them—but does not live at home.

Rabin said his studies of the Kibbutz-reared child alongside the Israeli child reared in the conventional family setting showed that from the age of 10 through adolescence and then army life, those raised in the cooperative displayed higher intellectual development.

In the first year, he said, there was a slight lag on the part of the Kibbutz child.

The advantage of the cooperative system in raising children, Rabin reported, is that the natural parents can devote loving attention to the child while the nurses and teachers are responsible for handling the discipline.

"Kibbutz parents are much in the same position as grandparents in our society," he said. They just give love and affection and "they are not involved in any storm-and-stress period."

Rabin said he felt that the lessons learned from the Kibbutz communities might be applied in this country to cases where millions of dollars are being paid in aid to dependent children whose fathers have deserted the family.

"We might do better by putting this money into a program separating these children from their biological mothers," he said, adding that many of the fatherless children are living in a family which is not a family.

Rabin said he would like to see members of the Domestic Peace Corps devote two or three years to parental work "to give these kids a better chance in life" away from their usual slum-ridden environment.

Beardstown Unit Studies Future School Needs

BEARDSTOWN — The newly organized Beardstown Citizens' Committee on Education is poised to "take another look at the schools of the community as they are today and as we would like them to be in the future."

Anticipating "great changes in Beardstown in the next 10 years," it is expected that the committee will conduct a school survey and possibly to establish another citizens' committee.

The committee has held an organization meeting and chosen Robert Huss as chairman, and Mrs. Mary Alyce Hobrock, secretary.

first meeting January 18.

He explained that he has been asked to organize a staff of other consultants to carry out the school survey. Dr. Peterso will meet once a month with the committee and his fee will be $50 plus travel expenses for each meeting. Three other consultants will receive $300 each for working with the committee.

The Illinois Citizens Education Council will share in the local expense.

The University of Illinois has been instrumental in the formation of the Education Council, which has a membership of 200. Meetings, clinics and conferences are being held in an effort to promote establishment of citizens' groups in Illinois communities.

The Beardstown committee will meet once a month for at least 12 months at the high school, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Recommended articles include: candy (soft, hard or diabetic), cigarettes, bath and face powder, hand lotion, soap, deodorant, toothpaste, toothbrushes, nail polish, lipstick, cleansing tissues, eyebrow pencils, hair brushes, combs, ribbons, hose, house slippers, scarves, handkerchiefs, coin purses, wallets, yarn, thread, emery boards, wash cloths, perfume, curlers, hair pins, mascara, fruit, cookies, gum, stationary, crochet thread, powder puffs and jewelry.

GREENE SENIOR IS CANDIDATE

FOR SCHOLARSHIP

GREENFIELD — Miss Kathy Melvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Melvin of Greenfield, is one of 10,348 students who have qualified as semifinalists in the 1966-67 Illinois State Scholarship program. She is a senior at Greenfield High School.

Students are chosen on the basis of the academic record and performance in a competitive exam. Winners will be announced in April and will receive monetary and honorary awards. They may then attend approved college of their choice within the state.

HONOR DENIED—The Defense Department barred burial of the ashes of Robert G. Thompson, World War II medal winner later sent to prison as a Communist conspirator, in Arlington National Cemetery. (NEA Telephone)

Record Size Cable

The largest cable ever installed in the Jacksonville exchange is being installed at the General Telephone Company office at 330 West Beecher. J. M. Galtens, District Commercial Manager, announced that two cables of 2,700 pairs each are currently being terminated by company construction forces. Prior to this time the largest telephone cable in Jacksonville was 1800 pairs.

Galtens stated that the cables which are three inches in diameter will increase total office entrance facilities by 60% and will require in excess of 150 man hours to splice them into central office facilities.

This is only a portion of a major cable addition to Jacksonville and South Jacksonville which will be completed during the first quarter of 1966.

ACREAGE ANNEXED IN ROODHOUSE FOR HOUSING PROJECT

ROODHOUSE — In a special meeting of the Roodhouse City Council Jan. 20, a resolution was passed to establish a city ordinance annexing approximately three and one-half acres of land into the corporate city limits of Roodhouse. The land is directly east of the old athletic field on East Rowe Street owned by C. B. Ruyke.

The annexation of this property will be of no cost to the city. The action was needed before the Housing Committee would consider purchasing the land for the housing units to be built by the Greene County Housing Authority, with Frank McColister, executive director of the Housing Administration of Greene Co.

BOOMING GRAIN TRAFFIC—Grain shipments from the port of Chicago have increased rapidly since the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959. The 1965 total of 107,152,000 bushels was an all-time record. A decline in shipments to U.S. ports was balanced by increased traffic to Canadian points. Shipments directly overseas doubled to bring the over-all 1965 figure to 11.4 per cent above 1964. Only in grain shipments has Chicago's port business lived up to pre-Seaway predictions, the Chicago Board of Trade reports.

Fox And Cat Friends Of Orchard Operator

By Arthur Thatcher
JERSEYVILLE — The "owl, winter months pertains to the and the pussycat" and their mouse situation. "We do not kindred are welcome control factors in the various orchards," stated John Surgeon, superintendent of the large Nugent and Schpanski acreages according to a checkup of local orchards and the condition of fruit trees in the area at the present time.

No Fox Trapping
A destructive factor given constant attention during the winter months pertains to the mouse situation. "We do not permit any fox trapping in our orchards," stated John Surgeon, superintendent of the large Nugent and Schpanski acreages according to a checkup of local orchards and the condition of fruit trees in the area at the present time.

their assistance in keeping the mouse problem solved." Owls, Hawks Help
The various owls and certain hawks in the area are also valuable as control factors. Surgeon stated, and the number of mice caught and eaten by such birds is often almost unbelievable. "But we do not depend entirely upon the natural control factors," Surgeon said. "We keep a very close watch on the winter mouse situation and if it becomes necessary to resort to certain poison baits to eradicate the mice, we go ahead and use it." Orchards Healthy

The condition of fruit trees at present is reported by a majority of local orchardists as good. There had been no peach bud killing temperatures in the immediate area up to January 27th. It is generally conceded here that a ten degrees below zero temperature over an extended period will kill a majority of peach buds. There have, however been years when this did not prove true, but as a general rule the ten below zero mark will do a lot of damage to peaches. It is also pointed out that the location of the peach orchard is important, and proximity to large bodies of water may also be an influence.

FORMER CASS BUSINESSMAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

BEARDSTOWN — The death in California Dec. 30 of J. E. Vancil at 77 recalls to local people his career as a businessman in Beardstown. He operated a grocery store at 801 Wall street for many years having come here in 1920 and retired in 1952. Before opening the store, which still is operated as a grocery, he was in the train service here.

His survivors are his widow and a son C. M. (Mickey) who attended local schools.

Mr. Vancil was born in Rushville but spent his youth in Plymouth where he took up telegraphy.

Abernathy Death
Another death of interest here was that of Earl Abernathy, 82, who died in his home at Concord Thursday.

For a number of years he operated the mail star route between Concord and Beardstown. During the "layover" of several hours daily he was a familiar figure on local streets and in the city park.

Mr. Abernathy was state hospital farm manager for many years.

MERRITT GROUP ATTENDS AUCTION

MERRITT — Among Merritt area residents who attended the recent Matthews sale were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson and Jim. Mrs. Evelyn Longenbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rolf and Melba, Mrs. Floyd Kitzelman, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hornbeck, Nimrod Funk, Harold Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Berry, Mrs. Vera Gregory, Earl Metcalf, Dick Lizenby, Sam Coats and Hester Korty. The Merritt church W.S.C.S. served lunch at the sale.

Merritt Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Pressey were dinner guests of Mrs. Mildred Snow of Winchester Tuesday.

Saturday callers at the Floyd Rolf home were Vonna and Dale Merritt of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Longenbaugh and Hester Korty.

Mrs. Millie Hitt was a business visitor at Winchester Monday.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices of butcher hogs shifted within a rather narrow range this week and closed with little net change, 25 to 50 cents higher.

The supply of 24,500 head compared with 25,500 for the previous week and day to day offerings showed no change until a slight increase on Thursday and a 1,000 decline on Friday. Prices ranged from a high of $30.10 on Tuesday to a low peak of $29.50 on Thursday. With a substantial advance at week's end, Friday's high was up to $30, very sparingly, equal to last week's high.

Demand was very broad for slaughter steers under 1,150 lbs and they brought the week's extreme advance of 50 cents a hundredweight. Buyers noted that offerings of prime increased somewhat and accounted for about 15 per cent of the run, the most liberal supply in more than two years.

Average price for the week was estimated at $26.95 compared with $26.88 last week and $23.06 a year ago.

Slaughter lambs sold 25 to 50 cents higher and topped at $29.75, highest price since April 1952.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made another attempt to rally last week but it failed. The week's performance was irregular, with a downbeat at the end.

Prices got an upward jog at the beginning of the week as they responded to President Johnson's record $112.8 billion budget, tailored both to a rise in defense spending and the needs of the Great Society.

Stock splits by International Business Machines and several other leading companies, as well as a raft of dividend increases and reports of gains in earnings helped support the bullish atmosphere.

Aerospace defense issues were especially prominent while the market was rising. The boost in budgeted defense spending and the prospects of a drawn-out war in Viet Nam drew continued demand for these stocks.

The aerospace defense stocks remained very strong until Friday when they, too, retreated in a fairly general market decline.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week lost 2.79 at 985.35, having failed for the time being to achieve the vaunted 1,000 level on a daily basis.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, however, emerged with a gain of 1.3 at 368.3.

Over-all statistics bore out verdict of the AP average. Of 1,573 issues traded last week, 746 rose and 696 fell. Some of the most influential blue chips were among the losers, however, and this had its effect on the other market indicators.

Volume for the week was 46,032,983 shares compared with 47,365,481 the week before.

Bond prices edged downward during the past week for a mixture of reasons that included a $28.8 billion Treasury refinancing. The Treasury refunding was the biggest bond news of the week.

The supply of corporate debt coming to the market over the next three months is more than $1 billion. Corporate bonds dropped. Yields on well-rated utility bonds ended the week very close to the 5 per cent mark.

Volume for the week on the Big Board totaled a par value of $65.99 million.

A group of 200 American Negroes emigrated to Liberia from Savannah, Ga., on March 18, 1955.

Mrs. McGlasson To Direct Scott Heart Campaign

By Naomi Lawson
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — Mrs. Warren Breeding, president of the Scott County Heart Association, has appointed Mrs. Everett McGlasson chairman of the 1956 Heart Fund Campaign in the county.

A fund drive will be conducted here and in more than 8500 other communities.

The following committee members will participate in the month-long February campaign: Winchester, Mrs. Randall Killebrew; Manchester, Mrs. Donald Baird; Alsey, Mrs. W. S. Bowman; Glasgow, Mrs. Hettie Cooper; Bluffs, Mrs. Harold Oakes; Rural Area, Mrs. Henry Lawshe; Mrs. Dale Slater is special events chairman.

February 20 has been designated as "Heart Sunday." On that day, volunteers in all residential areas will visit their neighbors to deliver educational information and to receive contributions.

Poul Lehman has been named memorial gift chairman for the Winchester area. Mrs. Harold Oakes is memorial gift chairman for the Bluffs area.

CWF Circle To Meet

The February meeting of the CWF Circle of the First Christian church will be held Wednesday, February 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. Don Cox will present the lesson "Does the Church Make a Difference?" Mrs. Edie Evans will direct the worship service.

The Mary-Martha Circle is planning the social hour.

Lillian Meier Honored

Mrs. Lillian Meier was the guest of honor at a dinner given Wednesday evening at the Fletcher Cafe by the officers and employees of the First State Bank.

Mrs. Meier will retire as auditor and teller at the bank Tuesday after 24 years of service. She was presented a silver tray as a token of appreciation. Paul H. Lehman, vice-president of the bank, made the award.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kehart, Mr. and Mrs. Buell Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Day, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Dieterle, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Glossop, Kay Smith and Miss Janet Frost and the guest of honor, Mrs. Meier.

Has Winning Idea

Mrs. Paul Garrison has been named winner of the Neat, Condit and Grout Bank's zero weather contest. Mrs. Garrison's estimate that the bank's weather clock would register zero for the first time this year at 2 a.m. on Jan. 29 was declared the nearest to the actual "zero hour." According to the clock, a zero reading was recorded at 10:16 p.m. Jan. 28.

Receive Word Of Birth

Word has been received here of the birth of a daughter, Deanne Sue, to Pfc. and Mrs. Kenneth Browning on January 16 at Kellbraun, Germany. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wallace of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. William Browning of Brooklyn, N.Y. The maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, are former Winchester residents who now reside at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home in Quincy.

U. of I. Graduates

Ronald Keith Coultas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Coultas of Riggs and James Cameron Scott, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Addison Scott of Winchester, completed required work at the University of Illinois this term. Both will receive diplomas in formal commencement ceremonies this June.

Coultas, a mathematics and physics major, will be employed by the Douglas Aircraft corporation in Long Beach, Calif.

Scott has accepted employment with the Vilter Commercial Refrigeration and Air Conditioning company in Milwaukee and plans to move his family there.

Innocent

Assistant U.S. Atty. William J. Hurley who directed the prosecution also declined any comment, saying, "The jury is still deliberating."

Ivy said he wanted to express his thanks "to the thousands of people who wished me well."

Then in a new plea for what he described as a thorough test of Krebiozen, he said:

"This controversy cannot be settled by the results of this verdict—it must be settled by the scientific method. What we must have is a cooperative clinical test by an arbitration-type committee."

Basic Issue

"The basic issue here, the thing for which I've been fighting for 14 years is that when an individual's work opens up a new substance, that substance should be investigated and not condemned without clinical testing. Krebiozen should have been tested back in 1951."

Dr. Ivy is former vice president of the University of Illinois and dean of its medical school. He currently is director of medical research at Roosevelt University in Chicago.

The jurors made their report to Judge Julius J. Hoffman in U.S. District Court.

The verdicts were returned by a jury of seven housewives, two maintenance men, a machinist, a printer and a janitor.

The words they heard in the testimony filled more than 20,000 pages of official transcripts, a mass of documentation which towered more than seven feet high when piled in one stack.

The recorded testimony was given by 178 witnesses—121 for the government and 57 for the defense. The trial was the longest in Chicago's U.S. District Court.

Dr. Ivy, the government said, had used his international reputation as physiologist, medical researcher, author and teacher to support a monumental fraud—the theory that Krebiozen could help control the growth of human cancer.

The defense replied that Krebiozen was the "discovery of the century" and that its developers were among the most unjustly harassed and maligned men of their time.

Large Cost

The defendants had told the government, the indictment charged, that it cost $170,000 to extract one ounce of Krebiozen from the blood of selected horses, a justification of their $9.50 an ampule charge for the substance.

Tests proved, the Justice Department answered, that Krebiozen was merely creatine monohydrate, a common laboratory chemical available at 30 cents a gram, that had no effect on human cancer.

In October 1951 the American Medical Association announced that a study had failed to show Krebiozen had any beneficial effects on cancer. The next month the Chicago Medical Society found Dr. Ivy guilty of unethical conduct and suspended him for three months.

Dr. Ivy contended that the opposition toward the drug formed only after he turned down a suggestion by AMA officials that two Chicago businessmen be given distribution rights. He repeatedly asked for large-scale testing of the substance without interference from what he called the "medical monopoly."

ON WHISTLES AND GEOGRAPHY

The difference in high school basketball officiating in northern and downstate Illinois has long been a point of controversy in prep hoop circles in the state. We have witnessed this wide gap, as have many others, at Champlain for several years, but never was there a better example than the first game of the JHS four-team tournament Friday night.

This corner has never felt obligated to knock officiating in any manner or form, but the 2,000 or so fans who sat in on the Crane Tech-Gillespie game Friday evening might wonder if we saw the game if we didn't say something about it. In a few words, let it be said the officiating was questionable.

It has long been an established fact that southern Illinois officials call the fouls quite a bit closer than around the Chicago area where the teams play a rougher, faster game and the officials tend to let the game go more.

This is sadly demonstrated each year in the state finals when southern officials call a game involving a Chicago area team, or vice-versa. Each year questions and suggestions are brought up by coaches throughout the state about bringing about some form of continuity.

Back to the point in mind. Crane Tech was whistled for 32 fouls by officials Reno Tenor and Charles Rayborn, both from Edwardsville, while Gillespie got by with 12. The fact that the game was won via this whistling is readily shown when one realizes Crane Tech outscored Gillespie by 22 points from the field and still lost, 69-66.

Let someone think this corner was the only observer left a bit stunned by the officiating, we could run off a long list of observers at the game who uttered the same belief; namely, coaches from the area and even fellow officials who shall go unnamed. We sat by a local official who has had many years with the whistle, and we're sure he had the same feelings.

Crane Tech coach Ken Olson took the turn of events surprisingly in style. He said after the game, "We have been downstate before. Springfield Griffin last year and Rock Island several years, and we find this difference in officiating the usual thing."

"We have a young team and we run a lot, of course. I don't want to run down the officials, but we felt a lot of those calls were questionable. Everyone here at the tournament seems almost to want to apologize about the officiating tonight."

"We are certainly impressed with this tournament, and would very much like to come back again next year if they want us. With all these sophomores and juniors on the team I feel we should be a pretty good ball club next year."

"We have been out of only one game all year with our now 8-7 record. Marshall was the Chicago power before they graduated three starters at mid-year. I look for Harlan to be the power in the city now."

Champion Jacksonville placed two players on the all-tournament team selected by the JOURNAL COURIER sports staff and WLDs after the JHS four-team tournament the past weekend.

Picked from the winning Crimsons were center Ron Coleman and forward Gary Ginder. Rounding out the team of six were Gillespie's Bob Boston, Crane Tech's Clifford Smith and Gary Shelley and Joe Dant of Hannibal. Shelley and Dant tied in the selection.

Narrowly missing the picks were center Vaughn Colbert of Crane Tech and Bob McMillan of Gillespie.

Coleman set a new tournament one-game scoring record with 34 points in the first game, ending up with 46 for the two games. Ginder scored 37 in the tournament. Boston, Gillespie's center, set a new tournament two-game scoring record with 52 points, 26 in each game.

HERE 'N' THERE: Illinois College senior Jim Cox of Bluffs has been drafted by the Norfolk Neptunes of the Continental Football League. Cox, who was named this month to the NAIA honorable-mention team for the nation and the NAIA defense team, is scheduled to report to the Virginia club's July training camp if he signs the contract he has been offered. The Blueboys' stand-out tackle and defensive middle guard was named to the Prairie College Conference 1965 all-conference team, and was elected IC's most valuable player for the past grid year. The Norfolk Neptunes, in the first year of the Continental Football League, had a 9-4 record. Member teams are reportedly farm clubs for both the NFL and AFL. Among the requirements for new clubs joining the league are home stadiums which seat a minimum of 20,000.

League-leading and undefeated Coke landed six players on the local YMCA all-star team which will compete in the District 'Y' tournament in Peoria Feb. 19. Eleven players were selected by coaches of the league. On the team are Ray Stone, Jack Cox, Pat Dowling, Bill Shouse, Bill Tobin and Gary Spangenberg from Coke; Clyde Werries and Bud Vandiver from the Independents; and Ron Orr, Ed Neill and Terry Chandler from the Neptunes.

Michigan Barely Tips Badgers 69-67

MADISON, Wis. (AP)

Michigan needed some last minute heroics Saturday to get by Wisconsin in a Big Ten conference basketball game 69-67.

The Badgers fought almost on even terms in the second half, tied the score twice at 47-47 and 49-49, but gave way to the visitors' strength at the end.

Michigan was pushed into a stall with two minutes left to preserve its slim 66-63 edge. Oliver Daren broke Michigan's pattern with a lay-up that put the Wolverines ahead 68-63 and kept Wisconsin out of reach.

All-America Cazzie Russell led the scoring with 21 points. He was held to one field goal in the second period and didn't get on the score board in the half until 10 minutes were gone.

Lemm Becomes Houston's 6th Boss In 7 Years

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)

Wally Lemm became coach of the Houston Oilers again Saturday

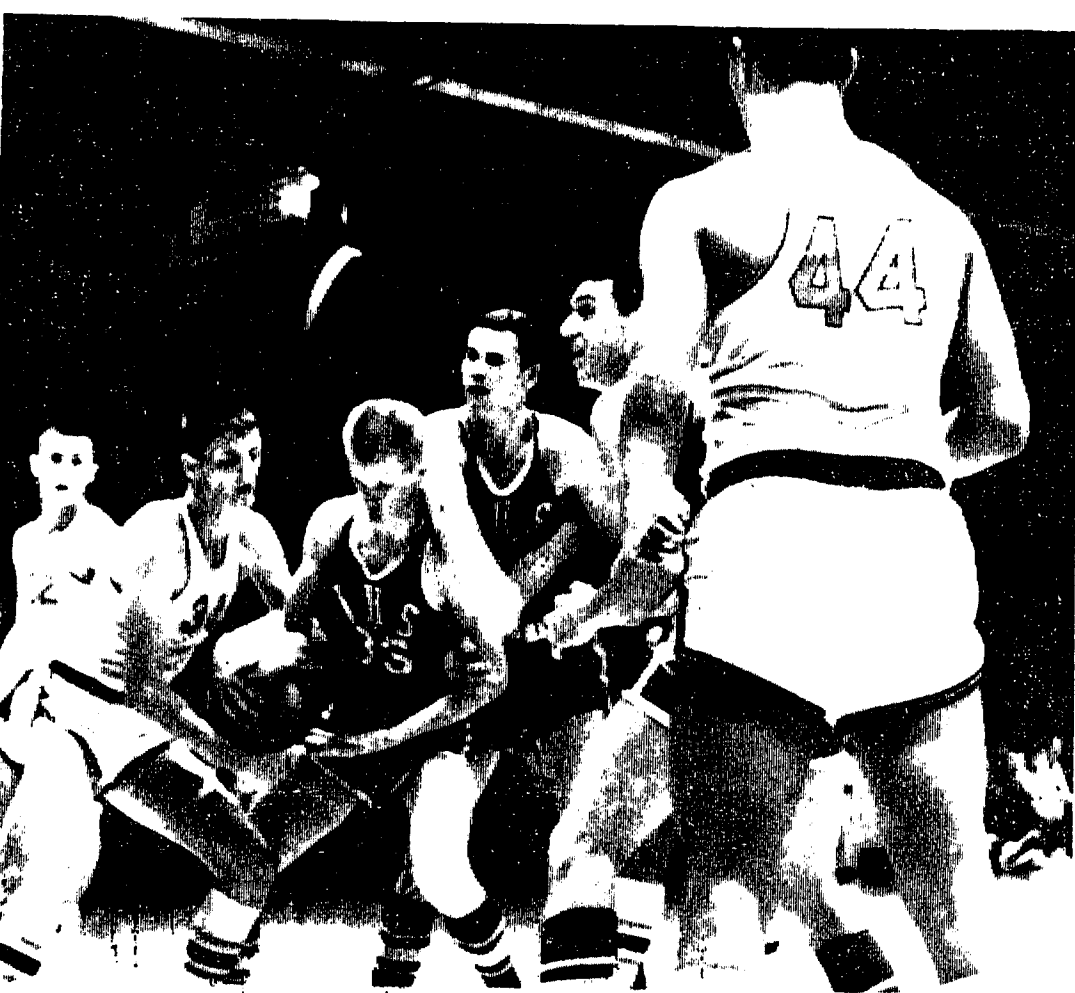

— the sixth head coach in seven years for the American Football League team.

Lemm, 46, who quit as head coach of the National League St. Louis Cardinals 20 days ago, returns to the Oilers job he held in 1962. He went to St. Louis at that time and Frank (Pop) Ivy came to Houston from the Cardinals in an unofficial interchange coaching swap.

Lemm replaces Hugh Boness Taylor at Houston. Taylor was fired Jan. 18.

Leading by 43-35 at the half, the 45% shooting locals exploded for 32 points in the first eight minutes of the second half to gain a 75-45 advantage, and the subsequent victory.

MacMurray, who hit at a 34.1% clip during the contest, stayed even for the first 15 minutes of play, as guard Fred Lewis dropped in his game total of 13 points.

Dave Lopes and Frank Dexter countered with 11 each, however, to leave Iowa Wesleyan on top by 43-35 at the intermission.

Inability to control the boards left the Clansmen well behind in the final twenty minutes, as Iowa recorded 63 grabs, to 48 for the Highlanders.

MacMurray's Randy Rose netted 12 points in the final half, but to no avail as the locals continued to pour it on for the triumph.

The loss, MacMurray's fifth in a row, drops the Clans to a 6-10 status for the season.

Iowa Wesleyan's five double-figure shooters were led by Doug Ferguson with 19, and Dave Van Diver's and Lopes' 17 point contributions.

Rose rated as high for the Clans with 14, while Lewis the Highlanders only other man in double figures, managed 13.

Hot 4th Quarter Topples Hornets By 57-56 Edge

MT. STERLING

Steve Larson's base-line jumper with 2:25 remaining lifted Macomb Western to a 57-56 edge over Brown County here Saturday night, as the visitors came from a five point deficit to gain the triumph in non-conference action.

Trailing by 42-37 after the first three periods, Western moved to a man-to-man press during the final quarter, and finally tied the contest at 48-48 with 1:30 to go.

A pair of lay-ups by Western's Alan Frischel, and another two-point by Larsen put the visitors on top for the first time.

Brown County, however, came storming back to take the lead at 56-55 with less than a minute remaining on the scoring punch of Terry Pool and Gary McCaskill.

After Larsen's bucket made the count 57-56, Brown County elected to hold for one shot, but missed the attempt and the rebound, to end the contest.

Frischel led all scorers with 28, while Pool recorded 20 for the now 12-5 locals.

HALAS NAMED TRUSTEE
CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, was named Saturday as a member of the Board of Lay Trustees of Loyola University.

The 44-member board is an advisory organization to the university's president, the Very Rev. James F. Maguire.

Warren Giles, Jr., boss of the league, said Friday the league had authorized the Braves to fulfill their obligation in Atlanta and disregard an order issued by Judge Roller Thursday instructing the Braves to prepare to play in Milwaukee this season.

The Braves had asked that the trial date be postponed to June 1 and the state had pressed for a start of the proceedings this week.

The Braves have said they will abide by a Fulton County Court order in Atlanta to honor a 7-a contract to play their home 2 games in that city.

Winchester Rips Routt By 81-46

WINCHESTER — A tall Winchester team beat Routt under the boards and led all the way as the Wildcats won 81-46 for their sixth win of the season.

Winchester pressed the Rockets throughout the first quarter and took the lead 21-9 behind the shooting of Jim McClure who was high for the night with 20 points, and Rex Brockhouse who was second with 19.

The Wildcats' press continued to force turnovers in the second quarter by the Routt club as Winchester outscored the Rockets 23-13 to bring the half time score to 44-22, Winchester.

John Zeller paced Routt with 14 points and Mike Fitzpatrick contributed 12 in the losing effort.

Winchester now holds a 6-11 mark for the campaign while Routt is 3-9.

Ginder And Brown Spark Late Rush

By BUFORD GREEN

Jacksonville scored 17 of the last 19 points, all in the last three and a half minutes, to come from behind and nip Gillespie 65-55 in the championship game of the JHS four-team tournament at the JHS Bowl Saturday night.

Down by five points with four minutes left in the game, Gary Ginder sparked the Crimson rally that swept Gillespie right out of the game in the remaining time. Ginder scored five straight points and Abe Brown hit four clutch free throws to put the eventual winners on top for good.

Crane Tech's superior offensive punch garnered third place for the Chicago team, as the Cougars downed Hannibal 70-58 in the consolation game of the second-annual affair.

Crane, beaten by Gillespie Friday night, 69-66, rolled to a 26-15 first-quarter lead and was never headed although Hannibal refused to play dead and stayed in the game until the final eight minutes.

The championship game was tied seven times and the lead changed hands on 12 occasions as the Crimsons and Gillespie engaged in a real barn-burner.

Ginder's hot outside shooting, coupled with Rich Coble's best offensive game of the year, took up the slack left by Ron Coleman, who was held to 12 points after throwing in 34 the night before.

IC Edges Culver In Overtime, 87-80

By TERRY SHAW

Forward Dick Clough and center Paul Runkle scored nine of IC's 14 points in the overtime period as the Blue-boys came out ahead of Culver-Stockton, 87-80, in a nip and tuck battle here Saturday night.

The Blueboys grabbed a 41-36 lead at the halfway mark, but Culver outscored them 37-32 in the second half to gain the overtime. IC outscored the Wildcats 14-7 in the overtime period as Clough got five points on five free throws and Paul Runkle picked up four on a pair of field goals to lead the way.

Clough and Runkle paced the Blueboys with 18 points apiece, followed closely by senior guard Max Greer with 15. Forward Gary Rottman led the Wildcats from Culver with 22 points.

The lead changed hands 14 times during the first half before reserve forward Jim Bruner and Ted Pardo, a scrappy little freshman guard, scored four points apiece with less than four minutes left in the half to give the Blueboys a 41-36 halftime lead.

The Blueboys were plagued by fouls during the second half as both Runkle and Clough picked up four and saw the Wildcats close the gap as IC's two leading scorers and rebounders went to the bench.

With 8:40 to go in the second half, Culver center Gary Ulrich was shoved as he went up for a shot, stepped to the line, and dropped two free throws to tie the score at 61-61.

Forward Charlie Martin sank a free throw for the Blueboys, but Culver took the lead back on a jump shot by Ulrich. IC and Culver traded baskets, and then the Blueboys picked two straight as Runkle put one up from underneath and Pardo stole the ball from Culver and went down all alone for the lay-up to bring the score to 68-65.

Culver came back with four quick points on two free throws and a tip-in basket by Tom Possey and Clough hit a free throw for IC to tie the score at 69 all.

The Wildcats hit from the corner, and Illinois College brought the ball back down court, lost it, got it back, lost it again, and finally had Martin come up with the elusive ball out of the melee to score two and bring the tie to 71-71.

Clough took the ball away from the Culver guard bringing it down court and went in for an easy lay-up. With 1:15 to go Possey tied the game for Culver-Stockton at 73-73 with a jump shot from the top of the key.

The Blueboys worked the ball around, shot from outside, and the rebound went off to Culver. Stockton. Culver called time, moved the ball, looking for the sure last-second shot. Culver missed with seven seconds to play in the regulation game, and Greer got the rebound for the Blueboys but a last-second IC shot failed to break the deadlock.

Culver got the tip in the overtime period and Martin picked off the rebound for IC as Possey missed from the outside. As IC moved it back down the floor Clough was fouled, and stepped to the line to sink the first of his five overtime free throws.

The Wildcats moved the ball down again, but IC's center Runkle was fouled under the Culver basket and repaid the foul by hitting two free throws to put the Blueboys ahead 76-73.

Lead In Overtime
Martin also dropped a free throw for the Blueboys before Culver broke the ice in the overtime period on a jump shot from the line by Rottman with 2:50 left to play.

Clough scored on two free throws for the Blueboys and Wayne Puckett matched him with a field goal for Culver to bring the score to 81-77 in favor of Illinois College.

With just under a minute remaining in the overtime period, Possey was fouled by Greer. He hit his first free throw but missed the second and Runkle grabbed off the rebound and fired a pass to Clough who was fouled as he went up for the shot. Puckett went to the bench with five fouls while Clough hit both free throws to bring the score to 87-80.

Turner Tourney This Weekend

The annual Jonathan Turner invitational tournament will be held this coming Friday and Saturday, with the host grade school going against three freshmen teams this year.

First round games Friday have the Porta freshmen meeting the Canton freshmen B team at 6:30, and Jonathan Turner meeting the Routt frosh at 7:45.

The losers will meet at 12:30 Saturday, with the championship game to follow at 2:00. The tournament is co-sponsored by the JOURNAL-COURIER.

Louisville Tips Braves By 103-71

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville upset Bradley 103-71 in a Missouri Valley Conference basketball game Saturday.

The Cardinals hit 53 per cent of their field shots, 40-75, to 33 per cent for Bradley 26-78.

Louisville also had its fast break working well and wound up with 19 assists in the game. Both teams used a full-court press much of the time.

Louisville boosted its record to 3-3 in the MVC and 11-5 overall. Bradley is 15-4 and 4-3, including a 79-62 victory over Louisville Jan. 15 at Peoria, Ill.

Westley Unseld, who spent much of the second half on the bench with foul troubles, scored 24 points and grabbed 19 rebounds for Louisville.

Bradley sophomore Joe Allen scored 16 points but could get only six rebounds.

Behind him in the voting came five track and field men — Ralph Boston, Randy Matson, Marine Lt. Billy Mills, the late Capt. Ron Zinn and Gerry Lindgren.

The handsomest student-athlete from Crystal City, Mo., was the first draft choice of the New York Knickerbockers, who reportedly offered him upward of $100,000 to become a pro. But he chose instead to take advantage of the Rhodes Scholarship he won and now is in his first of two years of study in England at Worcester College, Oxford.

Bradley has said he will go into law when he finishes at Oxford.

Baseball held its first free agent draft last June, and 814 players were selected. A total of 421 signed contracts. The highest bonus was the $104,000 paid to Rick Monday by the Kansas City A's.

Among the players drafted was Mike Garrett, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, who signed a pro football contract with the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League for a big bonus.

Dampier led second-ranked Kentucky to its best offensive performance of the year Saturday night, as the Wildcats overwhelmed Auburn 115-78 in a Southern Conference basketball game.

Auburn never challenged, but refused to yield until the opening minute of the second half.

The Wildcats took a 13-point halftime advantage and added four quick baskets and a free throw after intermission while Auburn was scoreless. Thad Jaracz' layup at 16:49 gave Kentucky a 22-point edge, 57-35, and from that point on the outcome was never in doubt.

Dampier forsook his usual long-range bombing of the bucket in favor of driving layups. He had 11 field goals and 10 of 13 free throws for 32 points.

The SEC's leading scorer, Lee DeFord, paced Auburn with 30 points.

Duke's top-ranked basketball team pulled away from North Carolina State in the last seven minutes Saturday for an 84-77 victory, 13th straight for the once-beaten Blue Devils.

The victory pushed Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference record to 7-1 while runner-up N.C. State upset Duke last March in the conference championship tournament finals.

After the 17th tie score of the game, 67-all with just over seven minutes to play, Duke shot ahead to stay on two free throws each by reserves Joe Kennedy and Warren Chapman. Until the closing minutes, the teams never were more than five points apart.

Jack Marin's 20 points, 18 by Mike Lewis and 17 by Bob Verge paced Duke's attack. Eddie Biedenbach and Pete Coker of N.C. State each scored 25 points.

Chicago Owners Claim City Now Ready For NBA

CHICAGO (AP) — What prompted the Chicago Bulls, new member of the National Basketball Association, to make a $1.6 million rush into an arena well established as the graveyard of professional basketball?

"The game never was properly exploited in Chicago," said Dick Klein, leader of a five-man Bull ownership.

This should bring a knowing grin from George Halas, who tailed in two pro cage tries with his Chicago Bruins; Abe Saperstein, whose Chicago Majors and American Basketball League both collapsed, and Dave Trager, who had to move his Chicago Zephyrs to Baltimore as the Bulls.

Trager's Zephyrs and the Chicago Stags, operated by the late Judge John Sbarano in the 1940s, were two NBA predecessors of the Bulls in this city.

Klein, 44, head of a sales promotion company and once a baseball chafel of the Cleveland Indians, is optimistic about the Bulls, who start operating next season with a flock of expendables from the other nine league members and small chance at big name collegians in the NBA's May draft. They will pick 10th and last in the first round.

Should Make Money
"It'll take a couple of years to break even financially, but with proper promotion, I'm sure we'll make money eventually," said Klein, former Northwestern University pitcher who had an 11-6 record in the Indian farm system in 1941.

Klein admits the Bulls would have a great gate draw in All-America Cazzie Russell of Michigan, a former Chicago prep star, but said they had to forego a shot at Cazzie to get the NBA franchise.

The key to league approval (requiring a 7-2 majority for a franchise) was wooing the vote of Fred Zollner of the Detroit Pistons, who covets Russell as a neighborhood super star.

The Bulls will draft 10th, 13th and 14th and then 10th again from the third round on. They will get, in effect, the eight and ninth-ranked players from each other league club in an 18-player pool which goes along with the franchise for the $1.6 million price tag.

"We'll have a good nucleus and some good names in the pool," said Klein. "The other owners will be on the spot trying to save their older stars and still keep young talents among the seven each can freeze."

Loyola Storms From Behind For Slim 76-70 Edge

CHICAGO (AP) — Loyola University, down by as many as 12 points in the second half, stormed from behind in the final two minutes Saturday night to defeat Kansas State 76-70 for the Ramblers' 13th straight basketball triumph.

The victory, for the nation's seventh-ranked basketball team, was the 15th in 16 games this year.

Kansas State had grabbed a 51-39 advantage early in the second half on the strength of solid shooting by Ron Paridis and Earl Soyfert. Loyola, led by sensational sophomore Doug Wardlaw, finally caught Kansas State at 61-61 with 5:33 remaining.

Bill Smith led Loyola with 21 points while Wardlaw kicked in with 19, 17 of them in the second half. Kansas State, which lost its eighth game in 15 starts, was led by Paridis with 17 points.

Clifford Smith Sheriff Candidate On GOP Ticket

Clifford Smith, of 1617 Hardin avenue, member of the Morgan County Sheriff's department for eight years, has announced his candidacy for sheriff on the Republican ticket in the June 14 primary election.

Clifford Smith

Smith, 68, had been employed 20 years with the Norbury hospital prior to his position with the sheriff's department, and was also employed at Lahey's and Quinlans for 13 years.

He attended schools in Glatia, Ill. before coming to Morgan county where he has lived with his wife, Ella for 42 years.

Smith is a veteran of World War I, and served with the army military police force.

Harris Rowe Wins State Treasurer's Spot On 1st Ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Harris Rowe of Jacksonville was endorsed Saturday as the candidate for state treasurer by delegates to the Illinois Republican slate-making conference.

Rowe, a state representative, won on the first ballot over Robert A. Dwyer of Winnetka.

The conference also endorsed Charles H. Percy of Kenilworth for U.S. senator and Ray Page of Springfield for re-election as state school superintendent.

Rowe, 42, is the son of Richard Yates Rowe, former state treasurer and former secretary of state.

Before the balloting began, State Sen. Robert A. Hatch of Chicago dropped out of the race and threw his support to Rowe, virtually assuring him of victory.

Rowe received 955 of the delegates' votes and Dwyer got 283. Arthur Falls of Ashland, the third candidate, had 62. The winner needed 60 percent of the total delegates' votes.

The slate-making session was the first ever held by Illinois Republicans and was set up by party leaders with the aim of avoiding the expensive and bitter primary fights of the past.

Dirksen called the drive to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act an attack upon the powers of state legislatures.

What is involved is the right of sovereign states to prescribe what shall prevail in that field," he said. The section permits states to ban the union shop.

Dirksen predicted his supporters of the section would again stop the repeal effort "if we've got the stamina and the speaker and the shoe leather."

Percy identified himself as an acquaintance of Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas but said he would attack what he called Douglas' ineffectiveness and inconsistent positions on public policies.

"Illinois deserves two effective senators," Percy said. "I am running for the Senate as a progressive Republican."

"As a party, we have sometimes avoided the word progressive. There is no reason that we should."

Percy pointed out that Dirksen led the fight for the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Percy on Friday clarified his position by saying he is opposed to repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Percy said there is no need for a right-to-work law in Illinois but said he saw no reason to impose Illinois practice on other states.

Apparently referring to possible differences between himself and Percy on policy questions, Dirksen said:

"I want to nail this thing down for sure. Would you rather have a senator who disagrees with me on one thing or a flaming liberal who disagrees with me on about everything?"

Jacob Reynolds, Murrayville, Dies Saturday

MURRAYVILLE — Jacob W. (Bill) Reynolds, 77, of Murrayville passed away at the Lashley Nursing Home at 6:10 p.m. Saturday.

Sub-Zero Weather Hits Jacksonville, No Relief In Sight

A mass of northern air held Jacksonville in an icy grasp Saturday, as temperatures dropped to a record -13 degrees below zero.

Weather forecasters predicted no relief in sight and estimated that temperatures would drop to within -13 and -23 degrees below early Sunday morning.

Suppliers of natural gas and heating oil were busy Saturday and one company official said that additional equipment had been put into operation because local systems were operating at peak capacity.

Aside from minor discomforts and inconveniences such as motor vehicles starting slow, and not starting at all, the Jacksonville business pace continued as usual on Saturday.

The low of -13 was recorded at the U.S. weather stations climatological center at the WLDL transmitter about seven o'clock Saturday morning.

The thermometer remained at that temperature for two hours and then began heading back to "warmer" zones.

High for the day was -5 degrees set at 3:45 p.m.

According to weather statistics on file at the local weather station, the -13 degrees was the coldest January 29 recorded.

The lowest previous temperature recorded on that date was set in 1951 when the mercury dropped to -7 degrees.

Saturday's temperatures were the coldest since January 31 of last year when a -15 degree reading was set here.

Local residents seemed undisturbed with the gnawing cold and braved the elements in spite of the sub-zero conditions.

Skaters were out at Morgan lake in Nichols park and also on the flooded tennis courts of Veterans park. A bonfire was lighted for the convenience of nighttime skaters at Nichols park.

Scouts Rough It
Boy Scout troop 119 from the Illinois School for the Deaf was reported to have camped overnight at Lake Springfield.

City firemen were called out three times Saturday in the below zero weather.

Smoke from a defective furnace filled Young's uniform shop on North Main street, adjacent to the Walker furniture store annex.

Firemen used a smoke ejector to clear the building shortly after nine o'clock Saturday morning.

About two o'clock, a car belonging to Ronnie Hopper of 627 North Main was damaged by fire in the J. Capps and Sons, Ltd. company lot.

Within the hour firemen made a run to the 1000 block of Hardin to check a grass fire.

PLEDGE OF UNITY—Robert Dwyer, left, and Arthur J. Falls of Ashland, right, are shown congratulating Jacksonville's Harris Rowe, center, after winning the state treasurer endorsement of the Republican slate-making convention in Springfield Saturday afternoon. Both Dwyer and Falls sought the coveted endorsement without success. Both told the conference delegates that they would abide by the conference rules and help Rowe win in November.

Rowe Group Busy

By JOHN B. MARTIN

When the smoke-filled rooms cleared in Springfield Saturday morning a small but weary group of supporters of Jacksonville's Harris Rowe were ready for the opening gavel of the Republican endorsement conference.

The entire Rowe delegation wore smiles before the opening session with the knowledge that State Senator Robert Hatch of Chicago would withdraw as a candidate and throw his support to Rowe.

With the Hatch withdrawal came the biggest plum of the conference, DuPage county, largest Republican delegation in the state, with more than 66,000 primary voters.

The psychological element of DuPage county firmly in the Rowe camp plus two large and significant wards of Cook county, soon gained favor with other delegates.

When the roll call vote was ordered, Adams county started the Rowe movement with their five-member delegation. Two-thirds of the way through the roll call, Rowe's endorsement was clinched.

"Top To Bottom" Campaign
In his acceptance of the convention endorsement, Rowe pledged his efforts for a comprehensive campaign throughout the state "from top to bottom."

Rowe said he would join with the other candidates to carry the Republican message into every county and hamlet of the state. He pledged his support to "increase the Republican pluralities in the downstate counties to help build up the Republican margin of victory in November."

Before the convention sounded the closing gavel, Rowe started making notations for campaign appearances throughout the state.

Percy, Page and Rowe will meet within the next two weeks to map plans for the overall campaign.

Members of the Morgan County Young Republican Club made plans last week for a "Rowe For Treasurer" party at the Amvets Club Feb. 26.

Dirksen was delayed at Washington, D.C., by plane trouble but arrived in time to deliver his keynote address at the tail-end of the conference. The timing of Dirksen's arrival couldn't have been better.

Rowe carries a strong political heritage into the campaign. He is the son of Richard Yates Rowe who was appointed state treasurer in 1944 and two years later was elected to a full term by a landslide plurality.

Beardstown Families Burned-Out

By VIRGIL REITHER

BEARDSTOWN — Needs of two families, including ten children, here Saturday after the 14 persons were routed from their home in zero degree temperatures late Friday by a fire that destroyed their two-story frame residence.

The Roy and John McMull families, who escaped the blaze unhurt, were left with just the clothes they were wearing when they fled the burning house at 416 East Main street about 10:45 p.m. Friday.

Beardstown firemen battled the elements and fire until three o'clock Saturday morning. Only the shell of the house remained standing.

The Roy McMull family, includes his wife Mildred, and six children, ranging in age from eight years to ten months. The John McMull family has four children, ages five years to five months.

One family has taken up temporary residence in the Henderson hotel on 4th street, while the other is living with the Roy McMull Sr. family of Frederick.

Appeal For Help
Beardstown radio station WRMS broadcast an appeal for clothes for both families all day Saturday.

According to firemen, the alarm was received about 10:45 p.m. Sources at the scene quoted the families as saying they barely managed to escape in time.

There was no immediate information of how the fire started, nor of the damage estimate.

John McMull, who is employed at the Beardstown laundry, was reportedly buying the house, but had no insurance to cover the loss.

Firemen, headed up by Assistant Chief Jack Weatherall, poured five streams of water on the burning structure, and later called for stand-by assistance from the Rushville department.

Temperatures dropped to five degrees below zero by the time firemen brought the fire under control.

MUSIC RECITAL JAN. 31 IS CANCELLED
Circumstances force the cancellation of the previously planned Junior Piano Recital to have been held Monday evening, Jan. 31, in the Music Conservatory at MacMurray College. The plans for cancelling the recital were too late to avoid the printing of the account which appears on Page One, Section Two of this paper.

Editorial Comment

Mail Betterment Hope

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien seems to be applying to his new job the combination of vigor and know-how which has previously brought him such success as a master politician. The postal mechanization program he has announced gives hope that our mail delivery system may keep abreast of phenomenal increases in mail volume.

The size of the present volume is hard to grasp. At present mail is flowing through the nation's postal system at the rate of about 74 billion pieces annually.

While some mail-handling processes do not readily lend themselves to the use of machines, it has long been evident that mechanization offered the only long-range chance of dealing with a flood of mail that is steadily rising. The Post Office Department has not made the fullest possible use of modern techniques and machines. It must do so if mail service is not to deteriorate instead of improving — and there is much room for improvement.

Recognition of this is implicit in O'Brien's announced plan to install the most modern mail-handling equipment available in the 109 city Post Offices which deal with 60 per cent of the nation's mail. He also promised "a systematic effort to modernize the entire postal complex within the coming few years," with next-day delivery across the nation as the ultimate goal.

Research on a variety of postal problems is planned, too. There will be a recruiting program to draw more college graduates into postal management. In heavy population areas, 100 self-service Post Offices are to be installed. Systematic planning of further improvements will be undertaken. All this, coupled with better use of modern techniques as they develop, offers more hope than has been justified in some years.

Joust With Paperwork

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman is the latest champion to enter the lists against excessive paperwork. He will be lustily cheered from the sidelines, no doubt, but anyone who expects him to slay the foe is a star-spangled optimist.

The need for some jousting is plain — and not only in Agriculture, though its case suffices to make the point. As Secretary Freeman noted in his memo calling for fewer memos and other papershuffling, the USDA now has almost a million cubic feet of paperwork on file. This is contained in about 155,000 filing cabinets, which take up about 775,000 feet of space at an average cost of $3.27 per square foot.

Freeman's "Cleansweep" campaign is intended to save a big chunk of the nearly 10 million dollars it costs the department just to store paperwork, including obsolete publications, out-of-date press releases and old records. He hopes for a 20 per cent cut in the volume of paperwork storage. Items no longer current but not old enough to be discarded, says the secretary, should be sent to the Federal Record Centers with the storage cost going onto their budget instead of the USDA's.

This sounds fine. If Agriculture and other agencies could get rid of even five or ten per cent of their stored paperwork, the savings would be substantial. But government's affinity for paperwork is well known. If there is much permanent result from Freeman's noble experiment, that will be a small miracle.

Expecting A Lot Of The Golden Goose!

Advantages Of Middle Age Told

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is getting popular.

It must be — because more and more people are becoming middle-aged.

As a matter of fact, some young folks show signs of being prematurely weary of the problems of youth today, and plausibly wonder when they, too, can enjoy the advantages of middle age.

But they are interlopers. Only those who have put in the necessary apprenticeship by actual living should be allowed to dwell in the silver pastures of middle age.

Here are some guideposts. You undoubtedly are middle-aged if—

You are too old to dance the frug and too young to get medicare.

Your appetite is great. You are now able to eat with relish any kind of food put upon your plate which the doctor says is bad for you.

During the day you catnap, but at night it is impossible to sleep eight full hours at a stretch. You invariably wake up in the morning before the alarm clock goes off.

It bothers your conscience to look out the window and see your wife shoveling snow. You even consider going out and helping her—but think better of it.

You talk to yourself as you shave, because you realize you probably won't have such a sympathetic audience the rest of the day.

It is necessary to send flowers so often to hospitalized friends that you open a charge account with the florist.

When you read a gossip column, you don't recognize the names of eight out of 10 of the people being gabbled about—and don't really care what happens to the other two.

At a party you find it much easier to make conversation with women wearing bifocal glasses. They seem to have so much more common sense.

The world is in a mess, but you aren't sure it is worth the bother it would take to unscramble it.

Half your working day is spent doodling on ways you can possibly retire ahead of time without starving.

You get more cautious. You gulp a couple of anticid pills before—not after—eating cabbage or brussels sprouts.

If someone gave you a free roundtrip ticket to Tahiti, you'd sell it. What's in Tahiti for you?

You begin to believe that real estate is the only safe investment—so you make the down payment on a cemetery plot.

That's middle age. With benefits like these accruing, you can see why everybody's trying to get into the act early—instead of waiting his turn.

Americans Get Lessons In Patience, Forebearance

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A high U.S. foreign affairs specialist questions whether Americans generally are impatient that we either achieve victory in Viet Nam this year or pull out altogether.

Some returning congressmen have reported that their soundings indicated growing voter impatience with the indecisive war situation and wish to have one clear answer or the other.

The foreign affairs official believes this is an incomplete reading of voter attitudes today. In his view, the American people are steadily becoming more accustomed to "gray situations" which resist final solution.

In the past 15 years, Americans have been exposed to trouble—either successively or concurrently—in a long string of places. They include Korea, Viet Nam, Laos, the islands of Quemoy-Matsu, India-Pakistan, Rhodesia, Suez, Lebanon, Cyprus, Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

During this entire decade and a half, we have been continuously involved on the continent of Asia because of the back-to-back occurrence of the Korean and Vietnamese undertakings.

Against that severely pock-marked backdrop, a new Gallup poll shows that 62 per cent of the American people expect the war in Viet Nam to last from two to five years or more.

There is nothing in that survey to suggest they relish the idea, but it is indeed possible that they are prepared to live with it.

This country already is "living with" a divided Germany, a Berlin separated by an ugly, frustrating wall, a divided Korea that keeps two U.S. divisions tied down, a NATO weakened and often thwarted by President Charles de Gaulle, a Cuba under hostile Red management, a shaky Dominican Republic.

None of these situations is satisfactory. Each is merely tolerable — better than continuous dispute holding the threat of worse, better than any realistic, visible alternative.

Two other men in government underscore the foreign affairs man's argument. Neither one is in any way describable as a defeatist. One, particularly, is a strong positivist, who spends a good deal of his time knocking down other people's negative assumptions about this troubled area.

Both nevertheless contend that, increasingly, this country is heading into an age when final solutions will escape its leaders, when the trick will be less to cast an answer in black and white than to devise "improvements" which make a problem tolerable to live with.

They argue that not only have the American people already learned to accept such unwelcome but bearable outcomes, but that they have a considerable capacity to endure much more of the same. By this reasoning, a few more stalemates around the globe would not deeply trouble them. They would include Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, to returning congressmen and a good many other U.S. politicians, this kind of thinking paints too sophisticated a portrait of the American voter.

They still carry their well-thumbed charts showing him a lover of black — and — white solutions. They remember him continuously as the late Gen. George C. Marshall once depicted him before a Senate committee: "The American regards as a stalemate any problem which arises in the morning and is not settled by afternoon."

One high Democratic strategist shares the current worries over the fuzzy aspect of the Vietnamese war: "I fear there is not a clear picture of decisive action."

It may well be that revised predictions suggesting political penalty to the Democrats for the war will be fulfilled in November. But it may prove equally true that voters who may choose to penalize the President's party will do so largely in blind reaction against mounting casualties, but without measurable hope of attaining any thing more than a tolerable stalemate in one more critical area of the world.

FINDING THE WAY

It Is OUR 'Weather'

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our weatherman is retiring, and we are aware how much we've taken this public servant for granted. Our city has weather which some might call colorful; at least it's not monotonous. It was 60 degrees on Christmas eve and still we had a white Christmas. Our weatherman has skillfully shared technical information in such a way that our residents who wanted to know about the roads to a neighboring city or the condition of the ski runs could understand.

Some years ago Dr. Halford Luccock commented on the irritation that some residents have concerning these weather reports. The weatherman tells about isobars running from Denver to Santa Fe or high pressure areas over Galveston when the local traveler simply wanted to know whether it was going to rain.

Personally, I enjoy hearing the Canadian broadcasters tell of conditions at Pickle Lake but, I agree, if you're in a hurry it's somewhat irrelevant information.

Nonetheless, I applaud Dr. Luccock's applause for the weatherman. "He preaches the gospel of interdependence and that is a gospel much needed. His eye, swinging from Wyoming to Maine, enforces truth that no man, no city, no state, lives to him or itself. We are members one of another when it comes to weather."

"The country, to a large extent, is tied together in one bundle of life, for better or worse. The lecture on meteorology becomes a symbol of larger truth that whatever happens to one group in the nation has its effect on others. If there is a low pressure area in buying power, they affect all of us. And we will have its disastrous effect in other areas. If full citizenship is denied to one group weather and my weather are all citizenship is insecure. We really our weather!"

rise and fall together.

"What happens in the world is as near as our front door, and it soon comes up at every front door of the land. There is not an East that is far. The Far East and the Near East are as near to every home as is every 18-year-old boy in that home."

"Christopher Morley summed it up: 'The man about town must become the man about the planet.'"

I wish our weatherman well as he retires to just watch the skies, and I welcome his successor. Meanwhile, there is another climate that each of us helps to create. We've learned to live in the climate of our diversities of this planet; we have to learn that we create a climate, determining pressure areas that affect others as well as ourselves.

Jesus observed, "When it is evening, you say it will be fair weather, for the sky is red. And in the morning it will be stormy today, for the sky is red and threatening. You know how to interpret the appearance of the sky, but you cannot interpret the signs of the times. A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and there shall be no sign but the sign of the prophet Jonah."

It's relevant to the weather map of our own time. There are low pressure areas, and they affect all of us. And we will have its disastrous effect in other areas. If full citizenship is denied to one group weather and my weather are all citizenship is insecure. We really our weather!"

Dear Ann:

Kissing Know-how Advice Sought

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: You will probably break up when you read this but it's a serious problem and I need your help.

I will be 16 next month and have a terrible inferiority complex. I've always felt like I was the dumbest, ugliest girl in the crowd.

Two weeks ago I went out with a boy I like. We had a great time and he asked me out again last week. He kissed me goodnight and I was scared to death.

I almost died when he asked if he was the first guy who had ever kissed me. When I said yes he said, "I thought so. You kiss like my Aunt Hilda. She's a 56-year-old school teacher."

I feel like a failure. What if I don't improve? My life will be ruined. How can I get better without practicing? Please help me.

—NO KNOW-HOW

Dear No: Sorry, but kissing lessons are out of my line. Furthermore, kissing isn't like playing the violin—something you learn to do by taking lessons and practicing. Believe it or not, but it is instinctive. And when the right man comes along you won't get complaints. You'll get compliments.

Dear Ann Landers: When an accident takes place and a member of the family is hospitalized, should relatives be told? We are all married but we are a closely-knit family. Recently our brother and sister were in a car accident. They were not seriously injured but they had to spend a few days in the hospital. We were told about it by another brother who was in the same accident.

When we went to the hospital, my sister was furious with the brother who had told us. I said, "Wouldn't you want to be told if I was in an accident?" My sister said, "No, I would just as soon be spared the worry—unless, of course, it was serious."

Maybe I'm crazy, Ann, but I can't help care about those I love. Please express your views.

—MONTEREY PARK

Dear Park: I'm with your sister — since her injuries were not serious. The news that a member of the family is in the hospital can be upsetting and I am in favor of protecting people against anxiety whenever possible. People who love each other spare each other.

Dear Ann Landers: This is about the girl who wanted to call off her engagement because she was afraid people would think she was a kook. I hope she listens to you, Ann.

I was engaged for two years to a fellow everyone said was perfect for me. I picked him because he was so popular with my friends and family.

Five days before the wedding I knew I didn't want to spend the rest of my life with him. My mother said I had "pre-marital jitters" and that all brides feel nervous and unsure of themselves.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, who is widely expected to continue both as President Johnson's top political strategist and a key liaison man for him with Congress, thought he ought to deal with these reports.

He took care of the matter neatly with this public utterance:

"The postmaster generalship is a full-time job, and I expect to devote much of my time to it."

No matter how big the government bureaucracy may grow, there will never be enough important government officials to fill the speakers' slots on the programs of the many annual dinners in Washington. This problem is often vexing to both parties.

Former Postmaster General Edward Day recalls that the head of a large organization, once dropped by his office with a flattering plea for Day to speak at his group's yearly shindig.

The board of directors, he said, had unanimously decided that Day was the man best qualified to make the speech. They had considered many names, but his was the one they always came back to. They knew, of course, that Day would have a particularly significant message for them.

"What date did you say the dinner is to be?" interjected Day.

"October 26."

"I'm terribly sorry," Day answered after checking his calendar. "But I already have a commitment for that night."

"Gosh," sighed his visitor, "everyone we've asked has a previous commitment for that night."

One quiet afternoon after the holidays, half a dozen White House news photographers were sprawled out in various attitudes of slumber in the west lobby where the press waits for news.

Taking note of the impending departure from the White House of McGeorge Bundy, the President's national security adviser, one Washington wag commented:

"Now that Bundy is leaving, I wonder if he'll go back to his real name—George McBundy."

Many a tongue-tongued platform performer has introduced him that way in his five years at the White House.

ALL OUTS
TAXES

The sales tax is the popular name given to a series of revenue acts passed by the Illinois legislature beginning in the 1930s. Depending on one's definition of a sales tax, anywhere from 8 to 12 different Illinois laws impose a tax on the sale or use of personal property.

Because our constitution prohibits a sales tax as such, a subterfuge is used and the laws are written to impose a tax on the "privilege" of carrying on an occupation or of using an article. However, the tax rate applies to the price of the article sold or used, and the tax is generally passed on by merchants to their customers. Thus such taxes have been labeled sales taxes.

Included in the list of sales taxes are the retailer's occupation tax, the use tax, the service man's occupation and use tax, the municipal and county retailer's occupation and service man's tax, the leasing occupation and use tax — and several special sales-tax taxes on particular items, such as gas and tobacco.

If the proposed constitutional revenue amendment is passed in November 1966, a true sales tax could be passed and this subterfuge ended. Most of these 8 to 12 tax laws could be consolidated and simplified. If desired, certain kinds of sales could be exempted from the tax. For example, some states have exempted food from the sales tax.

There are a few exemptions in the present general sales tax law based on the principle that only the final sale is taxed. Therefore, the sales tax does not apply to items purchased for resale or items to be incorporated into other property that is to be sold.

For example, feed supplements and fertilizers become a part of animals and crops, and therefore the sales tax does not apply to such feeds and fertilizers. However, the line is drawn on more remote items, such as oil, gas, and equipment. They are not considered as becoming a part of livestock and crops, and the sales tax applies.

State regulations on the various sales taxes take a volume of three inches thick of printed material. If you have a question on a specific point, contact the State Department of Revenue, Springfield or Chicago.

DID YOU EAT LESS PORK LAST YEAR?

Consumption of red meat per person in the U.S. dipped last year after reaching a record high level in 1964.

Total meat consumed last year averaged 210 pounds per person, down about two pounds from the year before.

Pork accounted for practically all of the decline even though pork imports increased substantially. Beef consumption declined slightly as population growth more than offset the gain in production.

In response to smaller supplies and strong consumer demand, prices of all red meats rose sharply in 1965.

Bright Future Seen For Farm Families In Next 50 Years

Farm families from all west central Illinois counties were on the campus of the University of Illinois Wednesday to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the formation of the Illinois Agricultural Association, now the world's largest state-wide general farm organization.

The IAA was founded at U. I. Jan. 26, 1916. Golden anniversary events included addresses by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and American Farm Bureau Federation President Charles E. Shuman, a film presentation tracing the history of Farm Bureau in Illinois, dedication of a plaque in the building where the IAA was formed, and a founders' luncheon.

Thousands of Farm Bureau members and guests attended has built the most successful anniversary observance farm organization in the United States in the last 50 years.

Shuman pointed out that agriculture in Illinois is evolving from the technological era to the management era and the farmer of the future will find it necessary to be a good manager first and foremost.

Shuman forecast a number of expanded services for farmers through Farm Bureau in the next 50 years, such as record keeping, business analysis, credit insurance, construction engineering, retirement plans involving mutual investments, and the expansion of markets through foreign trade development.

To Address Morgan Soil Group

GILBERT NOVOTNY, president of the St. Louis National Stockyards and the East St. Louis Junction Railroad, will be the speaker Monday, Feb. 7, at the annual dinner meeting of the Morgan County Soil and Water district.

It will be held at the Masonic Temple, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Dinner tickets may be had from district directors or at the district office at 15 Permac Road.

Novotny's subject will be "The Interdependence of Jacksonville and St. Louis."

He was born in Chicago 51 years ago, attended Northwestern University and began his career in public accounting. He soon moved into livestock marketing and became comptroller of the Halstead Exchange National bank in Chicago before going to Kansas City where he served as secretary-treasurer of the stockyards association there.

He now lives in Glendale, Mo., has three daughters and five grandchildren and is a member of Webster Groves Christian church.

Other directorates he holds are National Stock Yards National bank, National City, Ill., American Stock Yards association and Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Three directors to serve two year terms will be elected at the annual meeting. The nominating committee consists of E. H. Garlich, A. Paul Johnson and Maurice Strang.

Foresees Time When 'Minor Weeds' Will Bring Major Woes

"We can expect weed plants that have not been controlled, or that were formerly minor species, to increase in importance. So we must devise either cultural or chemical control of these species before they become major weed problems," University of Illinois agronomist F. W. Slife advised at the 18th annual Custom Spray Operators School in Urbana Wednesday.

"There can be little doubt about the usefulness of our present pre-emergence chemicals and the benefits that we—producers and consumers alike—are deriving from them," continued Slife. Nevertheless, annual morning glory, nutgrass and climbing milkweed seem to be increasing in the state, he added.

Here is the current situation with these pests as Slife sees it: Annual morning glory. This weed has always been a serious problem in Illinois. Because it was so sensitive to 2,4-D, it decreased in importance after the introduction of the herbicide. But in the past five years, the acreage of soybeans has increased rapidly. Farmers are now growing beans on areas previously considered too weedy for production. Many of the present pre-emergence chemicals used for corn and soybeans do not control annual morning glory. Amiben, used on 10 percent of the Illinois soybean acreage, won't "touch" this annual pest. Planting infested fields to continuous corn and treating with 2,4-D has been the only consistently good control for this weed.

Nutgrass. This perennial weed, a member of the sedge family, reproduces by seeds and underground nutlets arranged in a chain-like fashion. Each nutlet can produce a plant. Nutgrass has always been a problem in low, wet areas of cultivated and non-cultivated fields. In recent years this densely growing, highly competitive nutgrass has appeared more frequently, and it seems to be spreading much more rapidly than in the past.

Several herbicides seem to control nutgrass. Eptam disked into the infested areas has given good results, but frequently it induces dormancy in some of the nutlets and the pest may not be completely eliminated.

Lorox as a directed post-emergence spray in corn has shown considerable promise. Preliminary research shows that Ramrod may control nutgrass adequately when used as a pre-emergence treatment.

Climbing milkweed. This perennial vine is common in fence rows and around buildings throughout the state. It appears in cultivated fields, but has not spread very rapidly. In the past five years, however, agronomists have observed more and more patches, indicating that this weed is increasing. No adequate control is available for corn and soybean fields. Pre-emergence chemicals and 2,4-D used as a post-emergence spray have little effect on it in corn fields.

Perennial smartweed, ground cherry and trumpet vine—all perennial weeds found in cultivated areas—do not appear to be increasing at the present time, Slife concluded.

Ashland Adult Soybean School Opens Tuesday

ASHLAND — The vocational agriculture department at Ashland high school will hold an adult education course dealing with areas in soybean and corn production.

The first meeting of the course will be held Tuesday night, Feb. 1, at 7 p.m. The tentative plan for the course is to have sessions once a week.

A tentative list of the contents of the course as suggested by an advisory committee of farmers is as follows:

1. Fertility programs and their response on different soil types.
2. Varieties of soybeans and their adaptation to your farm.
3. Planting soybeans and corn with reference to planting dates, tillage and narrow rows.
4. Soybean and corn fertilization.
5. Weed and insect control in soybeans and corn and diseases of soybeans.
6. New developments in grain handling and storage.
7. Marketing and processing of soybeans.

An enrollment fee of $2 will be requested. The advisory committee consists of Pat Latham, Ward Petefish, Sid Campbell and John Reiser.

Four Migrant Insects Find A Happy Home In Illinois Croplands

Four insects that have recently invaded Illinois pose a threat of varying proportions to the state's crops, says University of Illinois entomologist W. H. Luckmann, head of the economic entomology section of the Illinois Natural History Survey.

The southwestern corn borer first appeared in Alexander county in 1963. Last year all fields in the county were infested. Five other southern Illinois counties had local infestations. Since the rate of spread is curtailed by severe weather, entomologists don't expect this borer to invade the major corn-growing areas of central and northern Illinois.

The southwestern corn borer drastically reduces yields because it girdles the leaves and the base of the cornstalks, cutting off the crop's food supply. A slight wind or push from harvesting equipment causes girdled stalks to fall, and "down corn" becomes another problem.

Luckmann describes the alfalfa weevil as the most destructive insect to enter Illinois.

Entomologists found one western corn rootworm in 1964. Last year six western Illinois counties reported this pest. The rootworm moved across Iowa in five years. At the same speed, it will move across central and northern Illinois corn-growing areas in about three years, says Luckmann.

The western corn rootworm reduces yields in two ways: The larvae feed on the corn roots; the adult eats corn silks, preventing kernel set. Organic phosphate insecticides have been effective against the western corn rootworm in Iowa and Nebraska. In both states it poses more of a threat to corn growers than the northern corn rootworm. The same potential threat exists for Illinois, says Luckmann.

Last year the cereal leaf beetle invaded Illinois along the eastern border in seven locations from Chicago to Danville. All areas were treated with insecticides, but undetected infestations may exist, cautions Luckmann.

Although destructive, the cereal leaf beetle should not greatly alarm small-grain growers. Good agronomic practices will help small grains outgrow the beetle. And carbaryl and malathion insecticides will control its spread.

However, Luckmann cautions, if the cereal leaf beetle becomes established, federal quarantines will probably be imposed. Farmers would then have to treat all grain before they could sell it.

Entomologists discussed these insect pests at the annual University of Illinois Custom Spray Operators School January 26-27 at Urbana.

Cropland Signup Period Begins Tomorrow

Morgan County farmers are reminded that sign-up for the new cropland adjustment program starts Monday, Jan. 31, at the A.S.C.S. office in Jacksonville, according to word from R. Lloyd Leavell, member of the Morgan County A.S.C. committee.

Payment rates and other details relating to individual farms will be explained to those who make inquiry at the county office. Payments will be based on the farm yield of the crop being diverted. Corn and wheat acreage will earn the highest rates in Morgan County.

Leavell stated this voluntary program will help farmers divert cropland to protective conserving uses under long-term agreements. Any term from 5 through 10 years may be chosen. The entire 1966 feed grain base and/or the wheat allotment are eligible for diversion. Cost-share payments can be obtained to help establish conserving practices on the land taken out of production.

Leavell also said the county office recently mailed all farm operators general information about the 1966 Cropland Adjustment Program and he urged all those interested to call at the county A.S.C.S. office, 15 Permac Road, at their earliest convenience. Since funds are limited, requests to participate will be accepted on a first-come basis.

Details of the 1966 feed grain and wheat programs will also be available starting Jan. 31.

Tops In Cass

John Reiser, Jr., (left) and Clifford Burrus received this year's trophies for having the two best yields in the Cass County 150 Bushel Corn Club. Reiser's yield was 180 bushels per acre. Burrus produced 166.5.

Reiser planted in 30" rows, with a plant population of 23,500. It was planted May 1, with a fertilizer cost of $44.56 per acre. Eight Cass farmers produced over 150 bushels per acre. They were Reiser, Burrus, George Greathouse, Daryl Tegeder, Marilyn Winkelman, Sam Hardwick, David Carl and the Jurgens Bros. All top yields were planted early, a high plant population and all used single cross corn.

Four others produced above 140 bushel per acre. They were Milton Carl, Edward Kloker, Don Piper and Richard Handy.

Most of those in the lower end were planted later. Low plant population on two farms indicated they had some trouble with germination.

The awards were made at a banquet held at the Blackhawk restaurant. Dr. W. O. Scott, University of Illinois agronomist, was the speaker. The Agronomy committee of the Extension Council will continue the club in 1966. They will meet later and review the rules.

Let's Go Birding

Bonaparte's Gull

By Emma Mae Leonhard

We have mentioned in a preceding article that we had enjoyed the privilege of adding Bonaparte's Gull to the list of birds found by us on the Christmas Bird Census around Springfield. We not only had this thrill, we profited from a careful study of this small gull.

As the six of us began our exploration of Lake Springfield area, we soon came upon two Bonaparte's Gulls flying over the bridge near the power house. They darted away so fast that we didn't have a chance to study them to our satisfaction, but one of the observers had scouted the area the preceding day and had identified several of these gulls in the same location. We were satisfied that these were Bonaparte's and hoped to be the first to add any to Springfield's list for any national census taken at Christmas time.

Hoping to see this species again, we went on to look for and count more species of birds. It was then that we found the Redpolls on which we reported last week. Toward the end of the day we chose to return to the Bonaparte's grounds, this time driving to the rear of the power house.

Royal Welcome
We were royally welcomed by four Bonaparte's Gulls. While the many Ring-billed and some Herring Gulls lazily rested upon the dark blue water, a few occasionally rose toward the sky and gracefully outlined themselves against the canopy.

The Bonaparte's Gulls, on the other hand, were full of activity. Much smaller than the other gulls—in fact, the smallest American gull—these little tern-like gulls were flying close over the water and plunging straight down into it.

Sometimes they splashed gracefully but dynamically and noisily into the water and completely submerged themselves for a second. Then they pulled themselves straight up out of the water, energetically creating little bombs and repeating the same unerring dives. So close they were to us that we didn't need binoculars to study them.

Food Puzzle
We knew that they must be feeding upon something very small, surely smaller than a fish, for we could not see anything dangling from their little black bills, and they were eating so many of these particles. Maybe they were dining upon their post-Christmas fish hash, something like our turkey hash. Who knows?

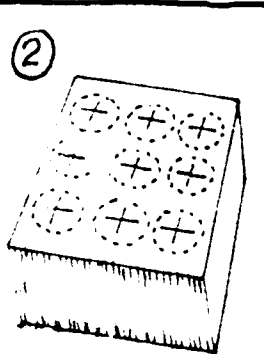

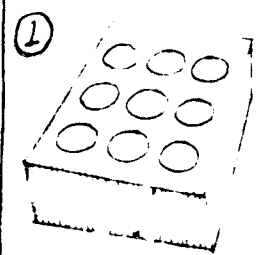

Anyway, we left these Bonaparte's Gulls, feeling much better acquainted with this species. They had added a great climax to our day of census taking.

ESCAPE FROM GEMINI

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

The shutdown of Gemini 6's Titan booster just a few seconds before lift-off on December 12, reminded us of a fact which we had almost forgotten: all rockets from the smallest sky rockets to the mighty Saturns are dangerous.

Rockets are all driven by the controlled burning of explosive fuels and this burning can get out of hand. Also, large rockets have thousands of parts all of which must operate properly if the launch is to be successful. It is for this reason that we have the Manned Maneuvering System (MMS) that worked so well on Gemini 6's second launch. If the rocket had failed to shut down properly the astronauts would be ready to pull a "D" ring which would fire their ejection seat rockets hurling them away from the rocket in 10 seconds. After second and a half more the ejection seat would drop away. By the time 3 1/2 seconds had passed the astronaut's parachute would begin to billow out becoming fully inflated in three seconds.

If Rocket Fails
The same sequence would follow if the rocket had failed after lift-off but before it reached 5,700 miles altitude. From 5,700 to 7,500 miles up the astronaut would fall free to 5,700 feet before opening the parachute. Above 7,500 feet a ball-shaped parachute called a ballute (shown in picture) would be used to float the astronaut down to 7,500 feet. The astronaut would then release the ballute and fall free to 5,700 feet where he would inflate his regular parachute.

The ejection seat system could not be used above 70,000 feet because the astronauts would be practically out in space. If a malfunction occurred above this altitude while the first stage was still running the astronauts would use the Gemini's retro rockets to pull away from Titan II and then make a normal landing.

Danny's Big Secret

By John Rankin

Danny comes home and tells his folks that the bigger boys are going on a scouting trip, but that he has been left out because they think he is too young and too small. Danny is pretty angry because he doesn't think this is so at all.

That night after Danny had gone up to his room Dad laid his evening paper aside and turned to Mom.

"The little guy is pretty upset about this scouting thing Roberts and the boys are on," he said reflectively. "Of course he's much too young and too small for such a trip and will soon forget all about it."

A questioning look showed in Mom's eyes. "But those men down at the store with their weird tales about Jungle Island and the lost cave. Of course it's all imaginary, but a boy his age should not hear such nonsense."

"Heard the same line of blather down at that old store when I was a kid," Dad said with a light chuckle. Then he filled his pipe and lit it and turned back to his paper.

Danny slipped out when Mom was heavily dressed and wearing scouting boots, went quietly downstairs and let himself out by a back door. The night was clear and crisp and a full moon still hovered over the mountain peaks, leaving the tall pines silhouetted against the horizon.

Suddenly the shrill cry of a wildcat somewhere in the hills was followed by the plaintive howl of a wolf down in the valley and the youngster's frail body froze with cold fear, his knees went limp, and for a moment he fought with all the grit and determination at his command an impulse to rush back into the house.

But after several fear-filled and agonizing moments his head cleared, the strength returned to his legs, and the jarring youth moved on into the night on his courageous but somewhat perilous mission.

Search For Cave
After cruising up and down the river for the greater part of the morning Mr. Roberts and the boys had finally anchored their boat on Jungle Island and set out on foot in search of the lost cave. But after hours of hacking and slashing their way with jungle knives through the dense bramble of vines, briars and underbrush, darkness had closed in and they were forced to seek shelter for the night under a great rock cliff near the river.

But by noontime the next day the searching party had struggled through miles of bramble and underbrush when Mr. Roberts halted to study his map briefly. "We're almost there, boys," he exclaimed triumphantly.

"The lost cave is somewhere near that bend in the river up ahead," Mel Briggs shook his head dubiously. "That's what we thought about ten miles down the line, and I'm beginning to think maybe there never was a cave on this creepy island in the first place."

"Yeah. And maybe no Indians either," Bob put in quickly.

Suddenly Mr. Roberts called out and pointed to the ledge.

GAY TIME

I want to make a rhyme I haven't before. It should be about winter-time. When summer is o'er The snow is on the ground. The birds have all flown. There are no flowers around. And no seeds can be sown.

Wintertime is fun. You can build a snowman. Skate or run. Or throw snowballs fast as you can. Winter brings Christmas holidays.

A time of fun and cheer. At school we have Christmas plays.

Too bad it comes but once a year. In winter cold winds blow. It's icy in the morn. Outside there is lots of snow. But inside we're safe and warm.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and took stock of the hand. He had one spade loser, one trump loser, no diamond losers and one or two club losers depending how the suit developed.

He decided to postpone the club play as long as he possibly could and to attempt to gather information along the way.

Therefore he led a diamond to his ace, returned to dummy's king and ruffed a diamond in his own hand.

Then he led a low spade toward dummy. Lew Mathe who sat East overtook his partner's eight with the nine in order to lead a trump. Bob Hamman sitting West rose with his ace and led another trump back.

South won in dummy, ruffed dummy's last diamond in his hand and then ruffed his last spade in dummy.

Now South was down to the all-important club play. He led a club from dummy and Lew Mathe played low. This didn't help South a bit. Lew was sure to play a low club if he had one and irrespective of what higher ones he might hold.

However, South had acquired a lot of information from the play. Bob Hamman, West, had already shown up with the queen of spades, ace of hearts and queen of diamonds. That gave him a total of eight high card points outside the club suit. If Bob also held the club ace he would have 12 points.

Bob is known as a man who likes to open the bidding and Bob had dealt and passed. It looked almost certain that Bob would not have that ace of clubs. South played the king and down he went.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal:
Winter is passing away and will soon be gone, and what will the young people do without their sleighing? And what will Mac Springer do? He has the finest sleigh in the country, a triumphal sleigh-car rigged to seat twenty-two persons and drawn by six spanking sorrels. Mac and his outfit have certainly been in requisition this winter, but, alas, the snow is gone.

G. M. Springer was one of the finest horsemen ever produced in Illinois. For years people who had been fortunate enough to experience a ride on a moonlight night behind Mac's fine team recalled the occasion with extreme pleasure. It was said that the six sets of "full-toned" sleighbells were the best this side of the Allegheny mountains.

He ran a deluxe livery stable and horse boarding barn where the city hall now stands — where the new one will be built. Early in the morning of March 29, 1889, it burned to the ground, destroying 63 head of the finest horses ever assembled in one place in this country. The sight so sickened him that he never returned to it, sold the lot cheap to the city and it is said that he never visited city hall.

BAD ENGINEERING — Our Town Supervisor, in laying down the stones at our street crossings, committed the error of placing them below, instead of above, the surrounding surface, and as a consequence the mud, water and silt stands at two to four inches upon the crossings. This was had engineering, and should be remedied at the earliest opportunity.

The town supervisor, A. Bozarth, former captain of Co. K, 27th Illinois Infantry, got disgusted with the comments on his engineering ability. The following spring when both newspapers commended his ditches "evidently built to accommodate the water when it wants to run uphill" he quit the job and moved to Chapin.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
KELLY'S BILLIARD SALOON — This new Jacksonville institution was inaugurated on Wednesday night by a splendid supper, provided by friend Kelly, which was attended by some 300 of our citizens. Everything edible in season was provided — including a bountiful supply of oysters — to all of which full justice was done by the assembled guests, among whom we noticed very many of our most prominent citizens.

The new hall has been constructed over Mr. Kelly's livery establishment — Link's old stand (on the north side of East Court street) — and the whole work of fitting up the hall has been completed in six weeks from the time of commencement. As completed it is one of the finest billiard halls in this section of the state, the walls adorned with fine engravings of sporting incidents, and six new billiard tables fitted up for the use of the public.

No liquors are to be sold in the establishment, and all betting, or gambling of any kind, is strictly prohibited.

Our city fathers have brought the "Moral Imperative" to bear upon our city barbers — colored or otherwise — by requiring them to abstain from their business on Sundays. No more shaving on Sunday morning allowed.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
A Chicago paper says that at the time of Senator Douglas' decease, his estate was so encumbered that it was believed there would be nothing left for his family. During the war, however, the prices of real estate in Chicago, which belonged to him, appreciated so much in value that its sale has paid off all his debts and left his family a handsome competence.

The Germans of this place are going to have a ball at Union Hall on Monday evening, the 12th prox.

Shipments of fat stock from this point last week amounted to only 350 head of hogs. Buyers are inactive, owing to the fact that the packers are holding off.

OUR TELEGRAPH — The Illinois and Mississippi Telegraph company, have, for the present, adopted Jacksonville, Whitehall, Carrollton, Jersey, and Monticello Junction as telegraph stations along the line of our newly completed railroad. The apparatus for their office at this place has arrived, and telegrams may be transmitted over the line as soon as the wires can be put up between this place and Apple Creek, which work is being delayed in consequence of running short of the supply of poles.

SENATORS — United States senators originally were elected by the state legislatures. Direct election by the people was provided for by the 17th Amendment, effective as to senators elected after May 31, 1913.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

WORLD DEMAND FOR SOYBEANS CLIMBS

Soybean prices have attracted much attention recently. Prices have made spectacular advances, although supplies are far larger than ever before. The rise in prices therefore comes from the demand side of the market.

The demand for our soybeans is worldwide. Nearly half of the soybeans sold by farmers are exported as beans or as oil and meal.

The world today is in turmoil. The industrialized nations — Japan, Canada and the nations of western Europe — are prosperous. They are increasing their demand for soybeans.

Large areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America have severe food shortages. In many of the newly independent countries, food production processes have been disrupted. Finally, there is war in Viet Nam and threats of much greater conflict.

All of these factors tend to raise prices in general and prices of soybeans in particular. Many speculators have been attracted to the market. Among them are many farmers who speculate either by holding soybeans or by dealing in futures.

Soybeans are an extremely useful agricultural product. They are widely used as food in Japan and other parts of Asia. In the United States and in Europe, most of the beans are processed to obtain oil and meal.

Soybean oil is used mostly for food. It is widely used in the manufacture of margarine, shortening, salad oils and cooking oils. A bushel of soybeans produces nearly 11 pounds of oil. The oil is worth around 12 cents a pound, so the oil in a bushel of soybeans is worth about $1.30.

Soybean meal is used mostly as feed for livestock and poultry. It is an especially valuable feed because it has a high proportion of protein. A bushel of soybeans produces 47 to 48 pounds of meal, recently worth close to 4 cents a pound. Thus the meal from a bushel of soybeans is worth around $1.90.

Prices of both soybean oil and soybean meal are unusually high in relation to the price of soybeans.

Farmers are holding record stocks of soybeans. On January 1, stocks still on farms were 284 million bushels. This amount was 48 percent more than a year before and 28 percent above the average for the previous five years.

The amount of soybeans stored in other places — elevators, mills and warehouses — on January 1 is not yet available. The report on total stocks is now being prepared in Washington and will be released near the end of January.

At the beginning of this marketing year, the supply of soybeans totaled 873 million bushels, 14 percent more than a year before.

The quantity of soybeans used at mills was slowed by short supplies in September, but more recently the rate of crushings has been greater than it was a year ago.

Exports were almost stalled in September, but since then they have been about 10 percent greater than they were last year.

To Open Grain, Commodities Office Here

Carroll D. Lewis of Jacksonville, an associate of the Illinois Grain Corporation — farmer-owned grain handling and merchandising cooperative — for the past 20 years, will open a grain, commodities and securities office Monday as a registered representative of W. G. Houston & Co.

The office will be in Room 304, Farmers bank building. There will be a Chicago grain market ticker and a direct wire to Sincere & Co., Chicago securities and investment broker with membership in the New York Stock Exchange.

The W. G. Houston Co. was organized in Chicago in 1836 and moved to Quincy two years later. For 20 years it had offices in the Mercantile bank building before moving to its present location at 118 N. 5th St. The company became a member of the Midwest Stock Exchange in 1953.

4-H Electric School Closes Monday Night

Farm Bureau hall will be a veritable beehive of activity Monday night.

It will be Family Night and graduation exercises for the 50 boys and 2 girls who attended the 1966 Morgan County 4-H club electricity school.

This school has become more popular each year, and this year's drew a record enrollment.

Monday the students will band together to put on a variety of demonstrations to show that they have learned in this year's school. For 25 of the students this was their first year in the school; many have attended two years, some three, a few four.

Bill Doerr of the Victory club and Vernie Thomas of the Arcadia Aces have attended seven consecutive schools.

The instructors are furnished by REA and private power companies in the area. They are always glad to help; at least they must be glad to do it for they continue to do it year after year. After the evening school is over they have to drive home to Winchester, Auburn and Petersburg.

These advisors gave up long ago trying to teach older people anything about electricity, but about that same time they found out that 4-H boys and girls were eager to learn, and caught on quickly.

Enrolled this year, by clubs, are:

Jacksonville Little Women — Melody Yeager and Nancy Hayes.

Murrayville Kings & Queens — David Bonneau, Jim Bonneau, Jeff Heaton, Les Heaton, Darrell Lewis, Larry McGrath, Gale Heaton, Bob Fitzsimmons, Gordon White, Jan Freeman, Lloyd DeOrnellas.

Meredosia Redi-Workers — Charles Beauchamp, David Beauchamp, Steven Dawson, John Miller, Chris Lovekamp, Chapin Victory — John Nienhiser, Roger Lakamp, David Nienhiser, Kenny Rahe, Paul Swagmeyer, Paul Doerr, Don Wardle, Robert Williams, Bill Doerr.

East Side Juniors — Jim Jones, John Jones.

Franklin State Shooters — Clyde Richardson.

Nortonville Ag — Johnnie Allen.

Arcadia Aces — Dean Goodpasture, John McKean, Mary McKean, Tom Patterson, Vernie Thomas.

Lynnville Hustlers — Joe McNeely, Darrell Quigg, David Quigg, Mark McNeely.

Berea Ag — Gregory D. Lepper, Bruce Kinnett.

North Side Seniors — Bobby DeOrnellas.

Morgan Beef Cattle
Feedlot School Set

Morgan County beef producers will have an opportunity to go back to school this winter to brush-up on their livestock production and management abilities.

Farm adviser George Trull reports that University of Illinois extension specialists in livestock, farm management, agricultural engineering and veterinary medicine will serve as instructors during the program. It will be held Feb. 17, and Feb. 24 at Farm Bureau Hall in Jacksonville from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be a registration fee of $2.50 to cover the cost of a reference notebook developed especially for the school.

Similar extension livestock schools are being held throughout the state. More than 2,000 Illinois farmers in 85 counties will attend one of 71 schools being held this year.

The Morgan County beef feedlot school will include instruction in feedlot nutrition, feed handling, buildings and equipment, health of feeder animals and marketing and outlook information. Specialists will deal with each of these topics in depth.

"I believe the school offers an opportunity that few beef producers can afford to miss," Trull said last week.

Anyone wishing to enroll can do so by contacting the County Extension Office.

Beef Feedlot School Schedule
Feb. 17 - A.M.
Beef cattle feedlot nutrition and management. Terry Greathouse, Animal Science Extension.
Feb. 17 - P.M.
Buildings, Equipment, Feed Handling and Mechanization — Marvin Hall, Area Adviser in Agricultural Engineering.
Feb. 24 - A.M.
The Cattle Business, Demand for Beef, Sources of Feeder Cattle, Buying and Selling Skills, Cattle on Feed Reports — Fay Sims, Extension Specialist in Farm Management.
Feb. 24 - P.M.
Health of Feedlot Cattle — Dr. J. R. Pickard, Extension Veterinarian.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

We are doing a good job of producing livestock. We use a balanced ration, but all too often we do not pay enough attention to our own diet, particularly in the winter. A good diet should provide adequate amounts — but not a great excess — of the following nutrients:

Protein — To build and repair tissues. To help form antibodies to fight infection. To supply food energy. Protein is supplied by meat, fish, chicken, cheese, milk, eggs, beans, etc.

Fat — To supply a large amount of food energy in a small amount of food. To supply essential fatty acids. Fat is supplied in oils, butter, fat on meat, peanut butter, etc.

Calcium — To help build bones and teeth. To help blood to clot. To help muscles and nerves react normally. Calcium is obtained from milk and other dairy products, green leafy vegetables.

Carbohydrates — To supply food energy. To help the body use other nutrients. They are supplied by corn, other cereal grains, bread, potatoes, sugar, etc.

Iron — To combine with protein to make hemoglobin, the red substance in the blood that carries oxygen to the cells. Iron is supplied by spinach, raisins, liver, lean meat, eggs, etc.

Vitamin A — To help keep the skin and mucous membranes healthy and resistant to infection. To protect against night blindness. Vitamin A is in carrots, butter, eggs, broccoli.

Thiamine — For normal appetite and digestion. For a healthy nervous system. To help change food substances into energy for work and heat. Obtained from meat, eggs, milk, peas, beans, cereal products.

Riboflavin — To help the cells use oxygen. To help keep vision clear. For smooth skin, without scaling around mouth and nose or cracking at the corners of the mouth. Obtained from milk, eggs, green vegetables, liver, fish.

Ascorbic Acid — To help cement body cells together and to strengthen the walls of blood vessels. To help resist infection (including colds). To help in healing. Found in citrus fruits, (oranges, grapefruit, etc.) tomatoes, cabbage, broccoli, spinach, sweet potatoes, apples, strawberries.

Vitamin D — To help the body absorb calcium. To help build strong bones. Found in milk, eggs, fish, cod liver oil. Look at your diet and see if these nutrients are included as they should be.

Now you should . . .
... Shiver.
... Look at seed catalogs in Florida.
... Weigh and measure the children.
... Feed the wild birds.
... Test seed you have saved.
... Be careful of slick deals by mail. There are many dollars taken from people each day through fraudulent or near fraudulent schemes that are handled by mail. The moral — Investigate before you invest.
... Clean dry beds, water without the chill and adequate clean feed are necessary for good livestock gains during this time of year. Take care of your livestock and they will take care of you.
... Before television nobody even knew what a headache looked like.

Conservationists

Three Directors

CARROLLTON — Robert Ring of the Illinois Department of Conservation and Education was the speaker Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the Greene County Soil and Water Conservation district held in the Knights of Columbus hall in Carrollton. Ring discussed "Conservation as It is Taught in the Schools."

An annual election of directors was held and three directors were elected. R. V. Price of White Hall, L. D. Scott of Rockbridge and John Schmidt of Carrollton. The three replace Tom Ford and Louis Harr of Greenfield and Ed Akers of Roodhouse whose terms had expired. Hold over members of the board are Lester Atterberry of Carrollton and William Hobson of Eldred. The new board will organize Feb. 21 and officers will be elected.

Approximately 75 persons were in attendance Wednesday evening and door prizes donated by the merchants were given to 16 persons.

DIESEL PARTS
The number of parts in a diesel-electric locomotive unit varies with the type of the unit and with construction details. A modern 2,000-horsepower diesel-electric locomotive unit has about 70,000 parts.

Films will be shown for the children and a complimentary sack lunch will be served all day. Patronage checks will be distributed at the close of the meeting.

Holds To Her Dream; Conducts Symphony

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Every body tried to talk Sylvia Caduff out of her dream of conducting symphony orchestras.

A woman looks ungainly on a podium, they told her in her home town of Chur, Switzerland.

Only Sylvia and six young men survived the finals in Carnegie Hall before a capacity crowd.

After the jury of distinguished conductors made their decisions Jan. 17, Bernstein announced the results. Sylvia was one of the four first-place winners.

Two nights later, after the four conducted the New York Philharmonic in Philharmonic Hall, Bernstein announced their new posts: Three, including Sylvia, would assist him with the Philharmonic next season, the fourth would go to Washington's National Symphony.

"I'm so happy, so happy," she says, which just about takes care of her working English vocabulary at the moment. She hopes to be proficient, though, by next fall when her stint in New York begins.

Sylvia, 28, was a piano teacher in Lucerne—a fine profession for a woman, everybody thought—until she came to New York early in January for the Dimitri Mitropoulos International Competition.

"I brought my little fur lion along," she said through an interpreter. "I had it with me when I was studying conducting in Berlin at the conservatory and with Herbert von Karajan from 1962-64. I think it brings me luck."

She also carried the baton she bared for his "wrong way" air—had used in reaching the finals plane flight to Ireland in 1938.

Conduct Rites For John Hall

Funeral services for John W. Hall were held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Jones Funeral Home with Reverend William J. Boston officiating. Mrs. Gail Gilbert served as organist.

Pallbearers were James Waid, Dates Opperman, Muriel Vasey, Malvern Vasey, Orvel Becker and Glenn Lair.

Burial was in Jacksonville East cemetery.

Douglas Corrigan is remembered for his "wrong way" air—had used in reaching the finals plane flight to Ireland in 1938.

Indian Relics Topic For Rotary At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE—County Superintendent of Schools, Charles K. Barnett, displayed his Indian relics and discussed his hobby before the local Rotary Club, Wednesday night. He was presented by W. W. Wilkinson. Guests included Dean Taylor and Ray Mayfield of this city and Warren Wilson of Winchester. The dinner was served by the Adell Rebekah Lodge. The Club will observe the annual Farmers' Night next week.

Roodhouse Notes
A dinner served at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bartlett Wednesday night celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Roy Blackburn whose anniversary occurred the following Thursday, Jan. 27. Present besides the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackburn, Roodhouse; and Chester Day, Manchester.

Mrs. W. O. Harp is a patient at the McMillan hospital, St. Louis, Mo. A dinner was served at Day's Cafe in Carrollton, Sunday, honoring Victor Hubbard of Patterson whose birthday anniversary fell on Thursday, Jan. 27. Hostesses for the dinner were his nieces Miss Ilah Lewis and Miss Irma Lewis of Roodhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore have moved back to their residence property in Roodhouse from Summit (Ill.). Mr. Moore, who is a car foreman, will retire March 1 from the GM and O railroad. Mrs. Howard Ferguson of Carrollton, recently home from De Paul hospital, St. Louis, Mo., has been staying in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coffman and expects to return to her home, rural route Carrollton, later in the week where she will be joined by her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Ross who will stay with her parents to assist while her mother recuperates from her operation.

Local citizens are now enjoying ice skating under the lights each evening at the city reservoir. Local skaters are invited to use the facilities until such time when the weather does not permit such recreation.

First regular airmail service in the United States was established between the cities of Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

Comets Smother Routt By 80-53

By TERRY SHAW

Routt was unable to cope with the Chanderville press and fell to the hot-shooting Comets, 80-53, in a PMSC game Friday night at Formaz Hall.

Chanderville used a tight, aggressive 2-1-2 zone press through most of the first three quarters and caused 34 costly turnovers by the home club. Chanderville outshot the Routt Rockets 41% to 33% from the floor.

The Comets broke the ice in the first quarter on a basket by Wayne Gurnsey hitting a 12 foot jump shot from the side. Routt's Don Fernandes came back with two. Bill Collins of Chanderville went up for a shot and was hacked, stepped to the line and hit one of two.

Ken McGinnis and Dick Zeller of Routt dropped back to back field goals to put the Rockets up by three. Delbert Force sank two free throws for the Comets to bring the score to 6-5, and John Zeller then put the Rockets up by three on a field goal.

Chanderville called time out and set up its 2-1-2 press, causing three straight turnovers, bringing about three straight baskets giving the Comets the lead at 11-8. Chanderville never trailed again.

The Comets outscored Routt 19-14 in the first quarter and 27-18 in the second quarter behind the hot shooting of Gurnsey, who picked up 14 points half way through the second period and sitting out the rest of the game. Carroll Logue paced the Comets.

The winning Redbirds shocked Porta in the first quarter, racing to a 20-10 lead. Porta managed to cut the difference to 28-26 at halftime and stayed within range throughout the second half.

The difference came at the foul line where the winners recorded 26 points to Porta's 16. Twenty-two fouls were called on Porta to 18 on the winners.

Steve Larsen led the way with 24 points, while Reg Brunk added 17 and Steve Graves 16. Vernie Ames topped the losers' scoring with 18, while Alan Thomas and David Gumm added 16 each.

The loss drops Porta out of the PMSC lead, now holding a 3-1 mark as Triopia moved on top with a 3-0 mark. The Bluejays are now 4-2 in the conference and 12-5 on the season.

East Pike Cops 64-54 Margin Over Meredosia

MILTON—East Pike rolled to 28-19 halftime spread here Friday night, but had to put down a fourth quarter spurt on the part of the Meredosians Indians to capture a 64-54 triumph in non-conference action.

After trailing by 50-42 after the third stop, the Indians cut the gap to four on two quick buckets by Tim Suratt, but were unable to get any closer as East Pike high scorer John Hoover countered with a pair for the victors.

After leading by 28-19 at the half, the locals went cold from the field, but managed to stay on top with numerous free throw opportunities granted by Meredosians' man-to-man press in the final half.

Hoover led the victors with 20 for the night, while Suratt countered with 20 for the Indians.

East Pike now stands 9-7 on the year, to a 7-6 status for Meredosians.

East Pike's victory in the JV contest boosts their season total to 12-2.

FROM BOTH SIDES: Jacksonville's Ron Coleman scores from both sides of the bucket en route to a 34-point evening Friday night. The Crimsions whipped Hannibal 70-59 while Gillespie took Chicago Crane Tech 69-66 in the first night of the JHS tournament. Top, Coleman slices clear underneath for a two-point layup, and bottom the potential all-star jumps over Hannibal's Bruce Beaver for another two.

North Greene Tips Winchester By 77-64

WHITE HALL—North Greene broke the game open midway in the fourth quarter to break a Winchester upset bid and kept a share of the Illinois Valley conference lead with a 77-64 conquest of the Wildcats in a game much closer than the final score, here Friday night.

Winchester led 16-15 at the first stop and 35-33 at halftime, in a first half that saw the lead change hands 13 times and seven ties.

North Greene swept in front in the third period, as Bob Kerr scored 12 points. The Spartans saw an eight-point lead vanish to 58-55 midway through the fourth quarter before the ten-point spurt settled the issue.

The Spartans hit at a blazing 55% clip in the game, on 29 of 53 shots, while Winchester connected at a 43% rate.

Kerr had his best night of the season with a 34-point contribution, while Moore topped Winchester scoring with 21 points.

North Greene is now 9-4 on the year, and remained tied with Carrollton, who whipped Pleasant Hill 64-53, for the IVC lead with 4-0 marks. Winchester fell to 5-10 and 1-2.

Carrollton Tips Wolves In IVC 64-59

CARROLLTON — Carrollton staved off a late Pleasant Hill rally and stayed in a tie for the Illinois Valley conference lead with a 64-59 count over the previously unbeaten Wolves.

The surprising Hawks led the entire first half, 20-11 and 35-30 at the first two stops. A hot third period moved Carrollton out to a 15-point bulge entering the final eight minutes.

Leading 62-47 with 4:39 left in the game, Carrollton saw their lead diminish as three starters left with five fouls.

Pleasant Hill ripped off six straight points to get within nine at 62-53 in the next two minutes. After Carrollton upped the lead to 64-53, Pleasant again got hot as Larry Mooney continued his hot outside shooting and the Wolves scored six straight before time ran out.

Four Carrollton starters hit in double figures, while Mooney's 25 led all scoring.

Carrollton is now 10-6 overall and 4-0 in the IVC, tied with North Greene. Pleasant Hill stands 1-2 in the league and 13-2 for the year.

2nd Half Burst Maneuvers Birds To 74-49 Count

GREENFIELD — A 45 point outburst in the second half of play vaulted the Southwestern Birds to a 74-49 victory over Greenfield here Friday night in IVC action.

John Huebner's 32 point performance, coupled with 22 more by teammate Tom Quakenbush, led the attack that moved from a slim 29-22 halftime spread to break the contest open in the third quarter.

Huebner and Quakenbush each recorded 10 points in the surging third round, for the now 3-13 Birds.

Greg Koehm rated as high man for Greenfield with 25 on the season.

Greenview Tops Ashland Unit By 80-71 Margin

ASHLAND — Greenview built up a 15 point halftime lead here Friday night, but had to fight off a late Ashland burst to gain an 80-71 non-conference triumph.

Greenview, who placed all five starters in double figures, took the first quarter tally by 17-12, but upped their spread to 15 at the intermission with a 22-12 domination of the second frame.

Out-shot in the first half by a 46% to 38% margin, the host club netted 22 of 40 attempts in the second half to cut-away at the lead.

Ashland trailed by 60-40 early in the third round, but shortened the deficit to within six with 2:30 remaining in the contest.

An even exchange of buckets held-off the uprising in the final second, however, to give Greenview their ninth point victory.

John Lyon rated as high for the victors with 20, while teammate Jody Clemens chipped-in 19.

Calvin Forman and Mike Hardy paced the now 6-14 Ashland squad with 17 and 16 respectively.

Greenview is now 1-8 for the season.

Terrell Denied License, Bout Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association's world heavyweight champion, was denied a boxer's license in New York Friday and a proposed March 29 title bout with Cassius Clay at Madison Square Garden went out the window.

Harry Markson, Garden boxing director, had planned to couple the Terrell-Clay fight with a middleweight championship bout between Dick Tiger and welter champ Emile Griffith.

Pretzels Breeze To 51-34 Count In Loop Play

WILLIAMSVILLE—The New Berlin Pretzels gained their 18th win of the season in easy fashion here Friday night, as they rolled to a 51-34 triumph over a cold Williamsville quintet in Sangamo conference play.

The win, New Berlin's 13th in a row, left the Pretzels with an 18-1 slate for the year, and a 5-1 mark in loop action.

The 45½ shooting victors, paced by Alan Brown's 19 tallies, took 15-8 and 28-19 leads after the first two periods, before putting the game on ice with a 16-5 domination of the third quarter.

Forward Tom Muench rated second for the night behind Brown with 13, while Dick Graham sparked the Williamsville effort with 12.

Williamsville is now 12-5 for the year, and 2-3 in Sangamo conference play.

Dickhaus Rites Will Be Held In Cass Monday

BEARDSTOWN — Funeral services for Miss Marguerite Dickhaus, who was honored for excellence in teaching in 1960, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday at St. Alexius Catholic church. Burial will be in Beardstown Catholic cemetery.

Miss Dickhaus, a retired Beardstown teacher, taught third grade at Central school for many years and later moved to the Garde school. She was chosen as Beardstown Teacher of the Year and Teacher of the District in 1960.

Born June 4, 1892, she was the daughter of John and Maude Dickhaus.

She leaves one sister, Miss Vonitea Dickhaus of Springfield. Miss Dickhaus was a member of St. Alexius Catholic church, the church's altar society, Cass County Teachers' club, Cass Historical Society and the Beardstown public library board.

The body is at the Northcutt Funeral Home where the family will meet friends from 7:30 until 9 p.m. Sunday. The rosary will be recited at the funeral home at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Schedule Rites In Pike For Wilby Huffman

PITTSFIELD — Rites for Wilby V. Huffman of Pittsfield will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Sutter Funeral Home. Reverend Walter Theobald will officiate with burial to be in Kinderhook cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. today.

Mr. Huffman, 68, passed away at Illini hospital at 6 p.m. Thursday.

He was born at Plainville of the Feb. 14, 1897, son of John and Nancy McMullin.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mildred Churchill; three sons: William, Truman and Sherman, all of Pittsfield; a daughter, Kathryn Rafferty of Barry; one brother, George Huffman of Barry and eight grandchildren.

Chatman Rites In City Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Chatman were held at 1 p.m. Friday at Cody and Son Memorial Home. Reverend H. M. Nance officiated with music by the Mt. Emory Baptist church choir. Mrs. Samantha Price, soloist and organist. Condolences were read by Mrs. Dola Robinson.

Caring for the flowers were Helen Brown, Mary Davis, Olivia Miller and Margaret Watson.

The pallbearers were James Alexander, Glen Chatman, LeRoy Daugherty, George Grisby, Harold Hicks and James Robinson.

Serving as pallbearers were Elmer Walter, Woodrow Marr, Don Marr, Charles Winkler, Wayne Decker and Gene Morris.

Burial was in Arcadia cemetery.
